

What's new in the June 2016 financial reporting cycle?

The information on this page has been updated for developments as at 28 June 2016.

The analysis below provides a high level overview of new and revised financial reporting requirements that need to be considered for financial reporting periods ending on 30 June 2016. Entities can use this listing to perform a quick check that all the new financial reporting requirements have been fully considered as part of their June reporting close process. The information below is organised as follows:

- Key considerations for financial reporting at 30 June 2016

Key considerations for financial reporting at 30 June 2016

The last 12-18 months have been relatively quiet in terms of amending Standards and new Interpretations that have become mandatorily effective for the first time. This trend continues in the current year with the next wave of major changes not expected until 2018/19. We recommend entities use this time to consider the impact to their financial statements of the major changes that are coming which also have significant disclosure consequences. In light of the recommendations coming out of the disclosure initiative, in particular, around only disclosing material information and tailoring the structure of the notes, we also encourage entities to assess whether the existing disclosures in their financial statements are as clear and relevant as they could be.

The amended reporting requirements that must be applied for the first time this year include:

- Withdrawal of references to AASB 1031 Materiality
AASB 2015-3 Amendments to Australian Accounting Standards arising from the Withdrawal of AASB 1031 Materiality completes the withdrawal of references to AASB 1031 in all Australian Accounting Standards and Interpretations, allowing that Standard to effectively be withdrawn.
- Financial reporting requirements for Australian groups with a foreign parent
AASB 2015-4 Amendments to Australian Accounting Standards – Financial Reporting Requirements for Australian Groups with a Foreign Parent requires that the ultimate Australian entity shall apply the equity method in accounting for interests in associates and joint ventures if either the entity or the group is a reporting entity, or both the entity and group are reporting entities.

Some of the Australian-specific and other related factors that need to be considered in the current reporting season:

- New IASB pronouncements – The AASB has issued new standards on revenue and financial instruments, which will mandatorily apply from 1 January 2018, and leases, which will mandatorily apply from 1 January 2019. These standards form the basis of the 'next big wave' of pronouncements. A further pronouncement is expected on insurance contracts. There may be some changes for which early adoption would be attractive. In addition, to the extent pronouncements have been issued prior to finalising the financial report, entities claiming full compliance with IFRSs in their financial statements will need to include the relevant AASB 101 disclosures about accounting standards on issue but not applied in their financial reports. Analysts and other stakeholders may also request more in-depth information about the impacts of the changes. More information can be found on our IAS Plus website.
- Revised Auditor Reporting Standards – The AUASB has issued several new and revised Auditing Standards, operative for financial reporting periods ending on or after 15 December 2016.

ASA 701 Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor's Report will require key audit matters, that is, those matters that, in the auditor's professional judgement, require significant auditor attention in performing the audit, to be disclosed in the auditor's report for listed entities. Consideration should be given to the adequacy of the disclosures provided in the financial statements relating to the key audit matters identified in the auditor's report. In particular, key areas of significant estimates and judgements highlighted in the accounts or noted as key audit matters should reflect symmetry of purpose.

- Tax Laws Amendments (Combating Multinational Tax Avoidance) Act 2015 – Amongst other tax specific issues, this legislation provides for certain significant global entities to lodge general purpose financial statements for income years commencing on or after 1 July 2016. Under the new requirements, if a relevant significant global entity has not lodged a general purpose financial statement with ASIC, it will be required to lodge a general purpose financial statement with the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) on or before the day lodgement of the entity's tax return is due. The ATO will be required to provide the general purpose financial statement to ASIC.

Since the enactment of the legislation, the ATO has announced that it will release a discussion paper inviting stakeholders to provide feedback on the ATO's proposed administrative arrangements and to raise technical issues in October 2016.

Where an entity meets the significant global entity criteria, it should monitor these discussions and consider the impact that this will have on their financial reporting obligations.

- Tax Transparency Code – In May 2015 the Government charged the Board of Taxation (BoT) with the task of leading the development of a code that promotes greater public disclosure of tax information by large corporates. The BoT released a consultation paper containing its preliminary findings and recommendations to Government for a Tax Transparency code (TTC) in December 2015. The BoT intends the TTC to set a minimum standard for content to be disclosed, but it expects that many businesses will make additional disclosures. These disclosures are expected to be included either in an entity's general purpose financial statements or a 'taxes paid' report.

The BoT expects the TTC to be in operation in time for the reporting period for the 2015-16 financial statements and annual reports and may see an increase in disclosures with respect to tax.

- Relevant Financial Reporting – There is a widely held perception amongst both preparers and users that financial reports are less relevant than they could be. Over the years, the piecemeal addition of new disclosure requirements combined with the use of technical jargon and/or boilerplate language has, in many cases, led to financial statements that are unwieldy, lacking in coherency and therefore difficult to understand.

Recently, there has been a push by both Australian and International Regulators and Standard Setters towards encouraging meaningful communication rather than just compliance in financial reporting.

The purpose of 'relevant financial reporting' is to improve financial statement disclosure, thereby enabling the directors to tell their 'story' in a more effective manner and to ensure that users are provided with relevant and reliable information that is useful. With this as the focus, there is a range of ways to make financial statements more relevant from 'quick wins' to a 'complete over-haul'.

Examples of techniques that can be applied to create relevant financial reports are detailed on page 17.

The pronouncements listed in the snapshot above, are discussed in further detail in this document below.

The tables below outline the new and revised pronouncements that are to be applied for the first time at 30 June 2016, or which may be early adopted at that date.

In the majority of cases, the disclosure requirements of the pronouncements listed in the tables below would not be applicable to half-year financial reports. However, where relevant, the recognition and measurement requirements of any relevant pronouncements would be applied where those pronouncements have been adopted by the entity.

As occurs so often with changes to accounting standards and financial reporting requirements, some of the new or revised pronouncements listed in the tables below may have a substantial impact on particular entities. Therefore, it is important that the pronouncements listed are carefully reviewed for any potential impacts or opportunities.

Where early adoption is being contemplated, it is important to address any necessary procedural requirements, e.g. for entities reporting under the Corporations Act 2001, appropriate director's resolutions for early adoption must be made under s.334(5). Disclosure in the financial statements must also be addressed.

In addition, the disclosure requirements required in relation to new and revised accounting pronouncements need to be carefully considered even where they have not yet been adopted.

The Standard carries over the existing derecognition requirements from AASB 139 but all other areas of AASB 139 have been revised.
AASB 9 introduces new requirements for classifying and measuring financial assets, as follows:

New requirements apply where an entity chooses to measure a liability at fair value through profit and loss – in these cases, the portion of the change in fair value related to changes in fair value related to changes in the entity's own credit risk is presented in other comprehensive income rather than within profit or loss. A new impairment model based on expected credit losses will apply to debt instruments measured at amortised cost or FVTOCI, lease receivables, contract assets and written loan commitments and financial guarantee contracts. The loan loss allowance will be for either 12-month expected losses or lifetime expected losses. The latter applies if credit risk has increased significantly since initial recognition of the financial instrument. A new hedge accounting model has been put in place that is designed to be more closely aligned with how entities undertake risk management activities when hedging financial and non-financial risk exposures. However, some transition options exist that allow entities to essentially retain AASB 139 hedge accounting. ^ Note: this publication assumes that

Corporations Amendment (Remuneration Disclosures) Regulation 2016 Amends some of the remuneration report requirements to address inconsistencies that arose when Australian specific disclosure requirements were removed from AASB 124 Related Party Disclosures and it was intended they be inserted into the Corporations Regulations. The amendment effectively replaces Class Order 14/632, which was issued as an interim measure to ensure that the original policy intent of the regulations were met, pending the Corporations Act amendment.	17 April 2016	Amendment

Other developments

The following are other developments that may have direct or indirect impacts on financial reporting:

ASIC

- ASIC focus areas for financial reporting - Consistent with prior periods the Australian Securities & Investments Commission (ASIC) is focused on the quality of financial reporting and disclosures that provide useful and meaningful information for investors and other users. ASIC continues to encourage preparers of financial reports to focus on the appropriateness of key accounting policy choices that can significantly affect reported results. ASIC also emphasised the importance of evaluating the need to impair goodwill and other assets. Key areas of focus for this financial season include:
 - policy choices – off-balance sheet exposures, revenue recognition, expense deferral policies and tax accounting;
 - key accounting estimates – impairment testing and asset values; and
 - accounting disclosures – estimates and accounting policy judgements and impact of new revenue and financial instruments standards.
- In December 2015, the ASIC announced the results from a review of 30 June 2015 financial reports that covered 240 listed and other public interest entities. ASIC noted that preparers of financial reports should ensure they provide high quality, useful and meaningful information. Based on its findings, ASIC has made inquiries of entities in areas such as:
 - Asset values and impairment testing
 - Revenue recognition
 - Tax accounting
 - Deferred expenses
 - Classification of liabilities
 - Estimates and accounting policy judgements.

Relevant Financial Reporting

There is a widely held perception amongst both preparers and users that financial reports are less relevant than they could be. Over the years, the piecemeal addition of new disclosure requirements combined with the use of technical jargon and/or boilerplate language has, in many cases, led to financial statements that are unwieldy, lacking in coherency and therefore difficult to understand.

Recently, there has been a push by both Australian and International Regulators and Standard Setters towards encouraging meaningful communication rather than just compliance in financial reporting.

The purpose of 'relevant financial reporting' is to improve financial statement disclosure, thereby enabling the directors to tell their 'story' in a more effective manner and to ensure that users are provided with relevant and reliable information that is useful. With this as the focus, there is a range of ways to make financial statements more relevant from 'quick wins' to a 'complete over-haul'.

Examples of techniques that can be applied to create relevant financial reporting are shrink, structure and sharpen:

Shrink

- Remove 'boiler-plate' accounting policy narrative that is not applicable to the client. Do not disclose accounting policies that might only become relevant in the future;
- Only discuss accounting standards that have been issued, but that are not yet effective, where these are material to the entity;
- Tailor disclosures about significant judgements and estimates to only include those items that have a material impact on the financial statements;
- Remove immaterial note disclosures (for example, disclosure of prepayments and disclosure of insignificant defined benefit schemes);
- Apply materiality assessments to financial instrument disclosures and other disclosures;
- Make use of cross-referencing to avoid repetition within the financial report; and
- Make reductions through the creative use of tables, graphs, graphics and font.

Structure

- Reorder disclosures in order of importance with the most relevant information presented first. For example, notes relating to performance presented first, with notes relating to less material items presented last;
- Group related notes together. For example,
 - performance notes (segment report, revenue and expenses, taxation and working capital); and
 - group structure notes (business acquisitions, subsidiaries, deed of cross guarantee and parent entity information);
- Include accounting policy narrative within the note to which it relates. For example, include the property, plant and equipment accounting policy within the property, plant and equipment note;
- Improve structure through the creative use of tables, graphs, graphics and font; and
- Include details of significant estimates and judgements within the note to which they relate.

Sharpen

- Tailor disclosures to describe the actual circumstances of the company;
- Avoid the use of generic 'boiler plate' language;
- Replace accounting jargon and technical language with plain English. For example, use short sentences, full terms instead of abbreviations, simple language and active voice in written narrative; and
- Improve the design through creative use of tables, graphs, graphics, colour and font.
