New fraud methods have been created on advertisement sites in Azerbaijan

Recently, a new method of fraud has spread in Azerbaijan through advertisement sites.

So, the seller receives messages from foreign numbers to buy items for sale on classifieds sites. But this time, fraudsters don't ask for card information, which is traditionally used in such cases. They ask the customer for your identity card to buy the product, after obtaining it, they perform password recovery operations in mobile banking applications one by one through your FIN code and find the bank you are a customer of. After that, the banking application gets into the hands of the fraudster and the fraudster accesses all your accounts and starts "card to card" transactions.
