

Webcast on Common Reporting Standard
Are you ready for the automatic exchange of information of your international clients or globally mobile employees?

Join our webcast on Wednesday, 6 July 2016
16:30 - 17:30 (CET)

Dear Sir or Madam,

We are pleased to invite you to our upcoming live webcast to be held on Wednesday, 6 July 2016.

The Common Reporting Standard (CRS) is a framework developed by the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) to provide a standard for the automatic exchange of financial account information, that will result in annual communication of taxpayer's information between jurisdictions.

Over 100 jurisdictions have committed to the implementation of CRS. More than 50 early adopters implemented new procedures as of 1 January 2016, while late adopters, including Switzerland, will go live on 1 January 2017.

The automatic annual transfer of taxpayer data, by the jurisdiction where accounts are held to the residence jurisdiction of the taxpayer, will impose another level of administration as well as provide tax jurisdictions with information on non-compliance where tax may have been evaded.

As part of our webcast, our speakers will share their insights on the following topics:

- An overview of CRS;
- How it will impact individuals in terms of additional personal compliance, complexity and costs;
- What it may mean to relationship and programme managers who deal with international clients or internationally mobile employees; and
- Non-compliance and voluntary disclosure.
