

Is your IT environment compromised, but you don't know it?

Deloitte's Compromise Assessment & Threat Hunting, now with VMware Carbon Black products

Cyber detection challenges

In a typical cyber attack, threat actors can be concealed within your infrastructure, undetected for weeks or months, ex-filtrating critical information. Statistics show that the earlier a cyber incident can be detected, the lower the effort and cost required for remediation and recovery. However, many organizations do not have the capability, resources or time to proactively hunt for threats before they become a crisis.

So we've created a solution

Deloitte's Compromise Assessment & Threat Hunting is a technical breach detection service that helps you identify hidden compromised systems and hosts in your environment before (proactive), during (reactive) or after (post-incident) incident response.
