Our Approach

Deloitte Private appreciates individuals who have achieved success through their own will and diligence. We also understand that private enterprise is closely connected to the family and its assets. We are here to support you and your family.

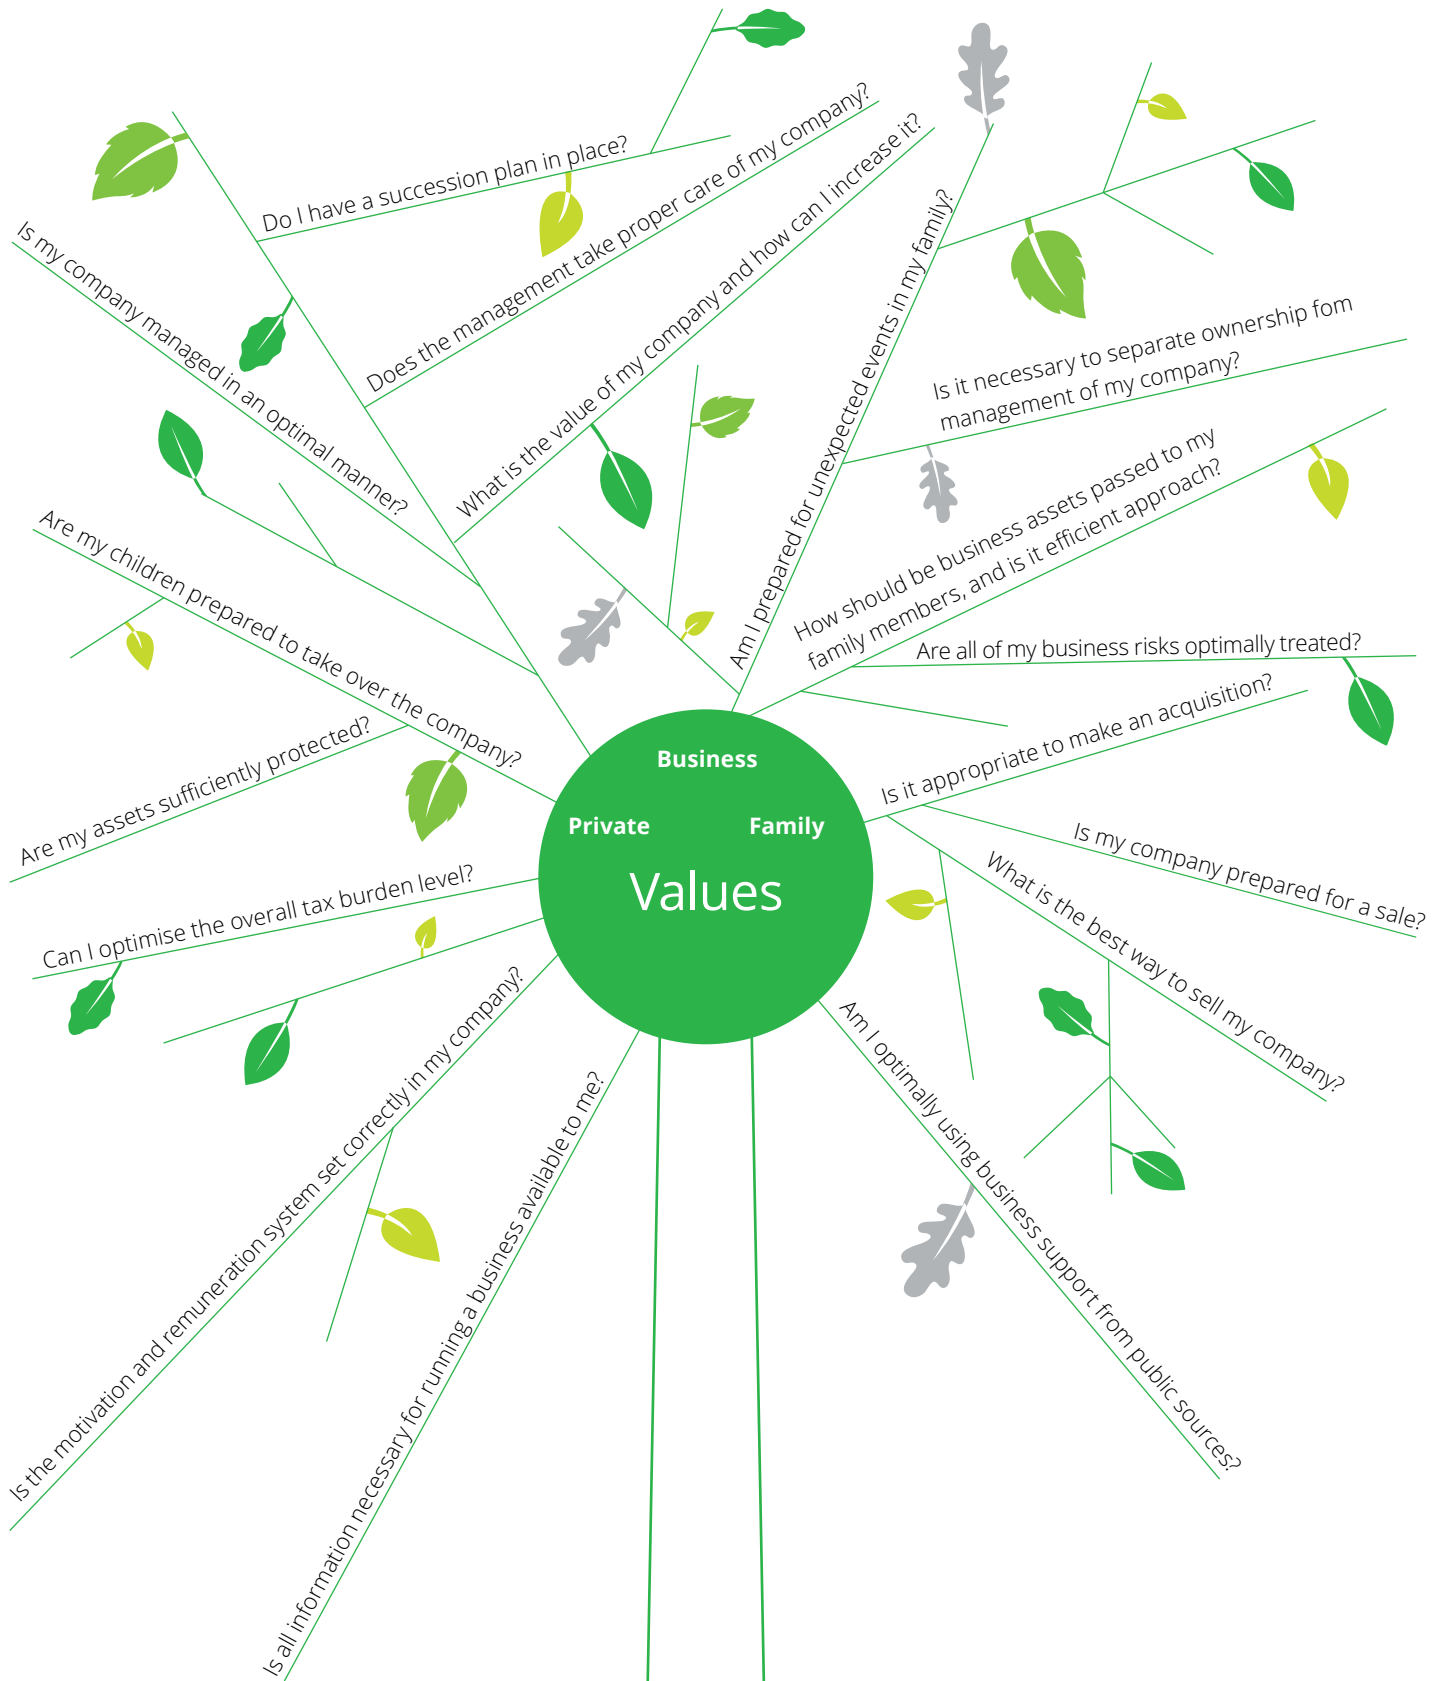

Private business owners have a different approach to business than large corporations. They are the founders of the business and are personally involved in the company's prosperity, often with other family members.

From our experience, protection and appreciation of assets is one of the main priority goals of a business owner. Your priority goal is our mission.

Deloitte Private is a team of specialized professionals that provide a wide range of tailored advisory services to private businesses and their owners. We take the business needs and long-term plans of the owner as well as family values into account.

Deloitte Private has been serving private business owners in the Czech Republic as well as in over 150 countries worldwide. We combine our global expertise with the personal approach of a trusted advisor.
