The Regulatory Centre in the Czech Republic has been established based on our perception of growing regulatory requirements placed on financial institutions and reflecting the clients’ demand for professional services in this area. The Regulatory Centre is composed of experts with long-term experience in various areas of financial services while also drawing upon the specialised knowledge of Deloitte’s entire European network in order to be able to inform our clients sufficiently in advance about the development of key regulatory changes, to provide our clients with professional advice in this area and to help our clients implement these new or changed requirements. The Regulatory Centre focuses both on specific local changes in the regulatory environment and global changes, particularly in relation to regulatory requirements arising from the European Union. Our team cooperates closely with the Deloitte European Centre for Regulatory Services in London and it is therefore able to offer our clients the professional services of a team with not only local knowledge, insight and experience, but also with the knowledge, insight and experience from abroad, not just from the European Union but also from the US and Asia.

2016/2017 Regulatory agenda – Top priorities

Insurance Distribution Directive (IDD)

On 2 February 2016, the Insurance Distribution Directive (2016/97) was published in the Official Journal.

The IDD aims to level the playing field between all participants involved in selling insurance products so as to strengthen policyholder protection.

The IDD extends the scope of application of the former IMD to all distribution channels (including direct writers) and contains surprises explicitly bringing certain activities of insurance aggregator websites within the scope of the Directive.

The IDD also introduces strengthened conduct of business rules, remuneration, disclosures, cross-selling rules, increases conflict of interest rules and professionalism requirements, and harmonises administrative sanctions for infringements of IDD provisions.

Markets in Financial Instruments Directive and Regulation (MiFID II / MiFIR)

On 12 June 2014, the Directive (2004/39/EC) and the Regulation n.600/2014 on markets in financial instruments were published in the Official Journal.

MiFID II seeks to improve transparency and regulation of more opaque markets, such as derivatives. The main impact and challenges relate to:

- Investor protection and inducements
- New requirement for corporate governance
- Market structure: new trading venue (OTF), additional financial instruments in scope for a non-equity instrument
- Reporting to prudential authorities extended and additional publication rules apply
- Wider definition for systematic internalisers may impact numerous banks in the EU

Next steps

- Q4 2016 – Expected Delegated acts
- Q3 2017 – National Implementation (3 July 2017)
- Q1 2018 – Application (3 January 2018)

Scope

-  Credit institutions
-  Investment Firms
-  Market operators
-  Data reporting services providers and third country firms providing investment services or performing investment activities through the establishment of a branch in the EU

Guidelines on sound remuneration policies

On 21 December 2015, the Guidelines on sound remuneration policies (EBA/GL/2015/22) were published by the European Banking Authority.

The guidelines broaden the requirements under the CRR/CRD IV:

- Detailed requirements for remuneration policies
- Sets requirements for all staff and identified staff
- Governance arrangements and process to implement the remuneration policies
- Detailed application in the group context
- Identification of staff whose professional activities have a material impact on the institution's risk profile.
- Sets out the criteria for the allocation of remuneration to fixed and variable components, taking into account allowances, structure of remuneration
- Aligns the risk of the institution and remuneration
- Disclosure requirements

RTS sets criteria to identify categories of staff whose professional activities have a material impact on an institution's risk profile.

Regulation on indices used as benchmarks in financial instruments and financial contracts or to measure the performance of investment funds (Benchmark Regulation)

On 29 June 2016, the regulation on indices used as benchmarks in financial instruments and financial contracts or to measure the performance of investment funds (2016/1011), known as the Benchmark Regulation, was published in the Official Journal.

The Benchmark Regulation will contribute to the accuracy and integrity of benchmarks used in financial instruments and financial contracts by:

- Ensuring that benchmark administrators are subject to prior authorisation and ongoing supervision depending on the type of benchmark (e.g. commodity or interest rate benchmarks)
- Improving their governance (e.g. management of conflicts of interest) and requiring greater transparency of how a benchmark is produced
- Ensuring the appropriate supervision of critical benchmarks, such as Euribor/Libor, the failure of which might create risks for many market participants and even for the functioning and integrity of markets of financial stability

The regulation implements and is in line with the principles for oil price reporting agencies and financial benchmarks agreed at international level by the International Organization of Securities Commissions (IOSCO) in 2012 and 2013, respectively.
