Our generation of lawyers are living in unprecedentedly challenging times. The global pandemic situation impacts all the markets, including the M&A one. In response to the current issues, we experience more, and faster, developments in M&A than we have seen before in the past twenty years. Investors seek greater protection against general lock-downs or supply-chain disruption in due diligence exercises as well as in transaction documents. MAC clauses, earn-out mechanisms, while other standard contractual measures are largely being revisited.

On the regulatory level, governments are seeking the protection of critical supplies and services. New regulations are being imposed on foreign investment into crucial or strategic industries. This brochure is aimed to help overseas investors navigate through the newly implemented regulations of foreign investment into strategic industries in various CE countries. Our country legal practices are prepared to assist further in this changing environment. Please feel free to reach our respective contacts at our country practices shown at the end of this brochure.

The direct or indirect acquisition of an Austrian undertaking; of shares in an Austrian undertaking, controlling influence over an Austrian undertaking, or of essential assets of an Austrian undertaking by at least one foreign entity.

| Yes, only for the following, highly sensitive sectors:
1. defence equipment / defence technology;
2. critical energy infrastructure;
3. critical digital infrastructure (in particular 5G infrastructure);
4. water;
5. systems that enable data sovereignty of the Republic of Austria; and
6. research and development in the fields of pharmaceuticals, vaccines, medical devices and personal protective equipment. For this sector, the 10% threshold temporarily applies until 31 December 2022 (COVID-19 crisis). | Yes, if an Austrian undertaking is acquired by a foreign entity and the relevant thresholds are met. | No. | The FDI Screening Act does not explicitly address whether the establishment of a company also falls within its scope. However, the following two aspects are relevant in this context: First, the FDI Screening Act provides that transactions are exempt from the approval requirement where the target is a very small undertaking with less than ten employees and an annual turnover or annual balance sheet total of not more than EUR 2 million. Second, the new FDI screening framework was introduced to control acquisitions of existing Austrian companies. Against this backdrop, we understand that the establishment of a new company does not fall within the scope of the approval requirement if no existing undertaking is transferred to the new company. If, however, parts of an existing company are contributed to the new company, an approval requirement may arise. | Yes, the FDI Screening Act explicitly provides that contracts which confer the right to use all or essential parts of the assets of a target company, fall within its scope. | The FDI Screening Act provides that the acquisition of controlling influence also falls within its scope. In this context, the law refers to the EU Merger Control Regulation which provides (Article 3(2)) that "control" shall be constituted by rights, contracts or any other means which, either separately or in combination and having regard to the considerations of fact or law involved, confer the possibility of exercising decisive influence on an undertaking, in particular by: (a) ownership or the right to use all or part of the assets of an undertaking; (b) rights or contracts which confer decisive influence on the composition, voting or decisions of the organs of an undertaking. |
Foreign Direct Investment in Austria

Deadline for notification of the relevant screening body

The application for approval shall be submitted immediately after the conclusion of the contract which triggers the approval requirement. Note that a notifiable transaction must not be implemented before it has been approved.

Screening procedure

After an application has been submitted to the authorities, they must immediately notify the European Commission in order to initiate the pan-European co-operation mechanism enacted by the FDI-Screening-Regulation. After the expiry of a 35-day period, within which the European Commission and other EU member states may provide comments on the contemplated investment, and a possible extension by another five days, the authorities have one month to review the transaction (Phase I). Within this period, the authorities must either approve the transaction or initiate an in-depth investigation (Phase II). A Phase II procedure runs for two months, within which the authorities may either approve (potentially subject to conditions) or prohibit the transaction.

Screening decision

Within Phase I, the authorities may either approve the transaction or initiate Phase II proceedings. If Phase I expires without the authorities initiating Phase II, the transaction is automatically cleared. In Phase II, the authorities may approve or prohibit the transaction. Different from Phase I, the authorities may also impose conditions in Phase II.

Are fines or other penalties prescribed due to failure to notify the FDI?

Yes. Infringements may be sanctioned with up to three years imprisonment as well as the imposition of fines (generally up to EUR 40,000).

Please comment on any other FDI review aspects you deem relevant in your jurisdiction (e.g. any specifics, exemptions, broader definitions etc.).

1. For investments in other sensitive sectors relevant for public order and/or security the triggering threshold remains at 25% and 50% (voting rights). Part II of the Annex to the FDI Screening Act contains a non-exhaustive list of these sectors, including:

(i) critical infrastructure such as energy, information technology, transport, health, food, telecommunications, etc.;
(ii) critical technologies and dual use items as defined in Regulation (EC) No 428/2009; these include artificial intelligence, robotics, cybersecurity, quantum and nuclear technology, nano and biotechnology, etc.;
(iii) supply of critical resources, including energy or raw materials, as well as food security, medicines, vaccines, medical devices and personal protective equipment, etc.;
(iv) access to sensitive information, including personal data, or the ability to control such information; and
(v) the freedom and pluralism of the media.

2. Shares of foreign entities shall be added up in case one foreign entity holds an interest of at least 10% in another foreign entity or if one foreign entity has holds controlling influence over another foreign entity. This is also the case where foreign entities agree to jointly exercise their voting rights (shareholders agreements).

3. The threshold of 10%, 25% or 50% of shares in the target company (these thresholds trigger an approval requirement) is also met if at least two foreign entities terminate a shareholders agreement and if at least one foreign entity (alone) retains a shareholding which meets the relevant threshold.

4. Target companies have to notify the authorities of transactions which fall within the scope of the FDI Screening Act if they have not been informed about an application for approval.

Foreign Direct Investment in Bulgaria

Bulgaria

Has your country implemented (or will implement) FDI screening rules? If yes, please specify.

Bulgaria has not yet implemented FDI screening rules and mechanisms in accordance with Regulation 2019/452 (the “Regulation”). There are currently no indications of such rules and mechanisms being discussed in Parliament.

Although, there is no general restriction, screening or limit of foreign investments in Bulgaria, there are certain industry-specific restrictions adopted by various laws. The Act for Economic and Financial Relations with Companies Registered in Jurisdictions with Preferential Tax Regime, their Related Parties and Beneficial Owners introduced in 2014, prohibits companies, domiciled in offshore jurisdictions and companies under their control, from engaging in certain economic activities, including banking and insurance activities, public procurement procedures, privatization transactions, acquisition of municipal property, gambling licenses, radio and television operators, auditors, etc. The law however provides for various exceptions.

Under the Gambling Act, foreign investors (i.e. non-EEA nationals and legal entities) are also subject to more stringent requirements regarding investments in the gambling industry, where, to be eligible to invest in a local entity, holding a gambling license, a foreign investor is required to have invested at least EUR 10M in other activities in Bulgaria and created 500 jobs or to organize gambling games in a casino located in a hotel of four or more stars owned directly or indirectly by the investor. Pursuant to the Bulgarian Agricultural Land Ownership and Use Act, foreign investors (i.e. non-EEA nationals and legal entities) are generally barred from the acquisition of agricultural land on the territory of the country, unless this is allowed pursuant to an international treaty to which Bulgaria is a party. Companies with direct or indirect shareholding by offshore companies are also prohibited from acquiring agricultural land.

The general support, informational, administrative support, certification and collection of statistical data of the foreign investments in Bulgaria is carried out by the Foreign Investments Agency, which is tasked with preparing an annual report on foreign investments in the country. Foreign investments are further monitored by the Bulgarian National Bank (BNB), which is tasked with keeping statistical information on loans between local and foreign entities. In this regard, locally domiciled legal entities are obligated to report to the BNB any received financing, exceeding the amount of BGN 50,000 (approx. EUR 25,000) within 15 days of its receipt. BNB is also entitled to request from any local and foreign person information relevant to the balance of payments and the international investment position of the country.

The Bulgarian merger control requirements apply to foreign and domestic mergers. The decision making body with respect to approvals or blocking of notifiable concentrations is the Commission for Protection of Competition. Additional regulatory clearance may be necessary in the regulated sectors such as banking, financial services and insurance and energy, among others.

Definition of FDI

Due to the lack of legislative measures on the implementation of FDI screening rules in accordance with Regulation, Bulgaria currently does not have a legal definition of FDI.

Definition of foreign investor

Similarly to the definition of FDI, the Bulgarian legislator has not yet established a legal definition of a foreign investor for the purposes of the FDI screening rules in accordance with Regulation.

Foreign Direct Investment in Croatia

Croatia

Has your country implemented (or will implement) FDI screening rules? If yes, please specify.

Croatia is planning to implement FDI screening rules, but has not yet brought any relevant national legislative act.

Namely, the Act on the implementation of Regulation (EU) 2019/452 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 19 March 2019 establishing a framework for the screening of foreign direct investments into the Union („Act on implementation“) was provided for in the Plan for harmonizing the legislation of Republic of Croatia with EU acquis communautaire in 2020. The respective Act should have entered the legislative procedure by July this year, however, the legislative procedure has not yet begun.

Furthermore, according to unofficial information from the Ministry of European and foreign affairs, the Act on implementation will not enter the legislative procedure at all. Instead of the primarily planned Act on implementation, a short Regulation on the implementation of Regulation (EU) 2019/452 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 19 March 2019 establishing a framework for the screening of foreign direct investments into the Union („Regulation on implementation“) shall be adopted. The Regulation on implementation will designate the Ministry of Economy and Sustainable Development national contact point for FDI screening rules and should be made available for the public consultation later in August. Moreover, the Critical Infrastructure Act shall also be amended according to the Regulation 2019/452.

Has your country implemented (or will implement) FDI screening rules? If yes, please specify.

A period of up to 30 days shall be added to the period of 90 days in the case of a particularly complex case.

If the Ministry receives an opinion or information showing that a FDI may pose a threat to the security of the Czech Republic or internal or public order, or if the Ministry has a reason to believe so, it will submit the matter to the Czech Government for consideration before issuing a final decision within 90 days from the day of the initiation of the procedure for examining the FDI.

The Ministry shall issue without undue delay a decision on the conditional authorization of a FDI, a decision on the non-granting of a FDI permit, a decision on conditional admissibility of a FDI, a decision on the prohibition of FDI or a decision on the prohibition of further duration of a FDI if the Czech Government agrees that such decision is necessary for the protection of the security of the Czech Republic or internal or public order.

According to the Draft of the Act, the foreign investor will commit an offence if:
- a) the foreign investor fails to comply with the obligation imposed by the decision prohibiting the continuation of the FDI;
- b) the foreign investor does not meet the conditions imposed by the decision on the conditional authorization of the FDI or the decision on conditional admissibility of the FDI;
- c) the foreign investor makes the FDI without making an application for permission of the FDI; or

Foreign Direct Investment in Latvia

Latvia

Has your country implemented (or will implement) FDI screening rules? If yes, please specify.

Yes. In Latvia a mechanism for the screening of direct investments, including foreign direct investments has already been introduced. In particular, the amendment of 23 March 2017 to the National Security Law, which entered into force on 29 March 2017, includes Chapter VI, which contains restrictions on both transactions with critical infrastructure and the acquisition of influence in a commercial company important for national security, providing that a Cabinet of Ministers permit is required. So, the Questionnaire will be filled with regulations from previously stated National Security Law.

Concerning the REGULATION (EU) 2019/452 OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL of 19 March 2019. The Regulation does not oblige Member States to introduce an evaluation mechanism, but rather provides for the introduction of a cooperation mechanism in each Member State and the Commission. In order to make it possible to introduce the requirements of the Regulation (establishment of a contact point and information exchange), the Ministry of Economics has prepared the draft law, which aims to provide the Cabinet of Ministers with the powers to determine the authority which will implement the functions of the contact point, ensuring the cooperation mechanism referred to in the Regulation between Member States and the Commission. The draft law will come into force on 11 October 2020.

Foreign Direct Investment in Poland

Has your country implemented (or will implement) FDI screening rules? If yes, please specify.

Yes. The new law on investment control is part of the government’s Anti-Crisis Shield 4.0. These regulations were adopted as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic and the risk of taking over Polish companies that are crucial for public order, safety or health. New investment control regulations came into force on 24 July 2020.

Definition of FDI

FDI is defined as a transaction made by foreign investor resulting in the acquisition, achieving substantial shareholding or acquiring dominance of protected entities.

Protected entities are undertakings based in Poland that are crucial for maintaining public safety, order and health, inter alia:
- conducting business activities related to: power, gas, telecommunications, food processing, manufacture of medicines, chemicals and fertilizers, explosives, weapons and ammunition, as well as military and/or police technologies;
- developing software for core services for society, such as energy, fuels, water supply, cash supply, card payments, hospitals, sales of prescription drugs, transport and food supply, and
- public companies regardless of the type and sector of activity;
- The prerequisite for protection is also a sufficiently high revenue of the company – it must exceed the equivalent of EUR 10 million in Poland in one of the two financial years preceding the intention to take it over.

Substantial shareholding is defined as:
(a) ownership of shares or stocks representing at least 20% the total number of votes, or
(b) holding a participation in a partnership of at least 20% of the value of all contributions made to that partnership, or
(c) holding a share in the profits of another entity of at least 20%;

Dominance position occurs when an entrepreneur has the power to decide on the direction of the activities of another entity, in particular in which it holds, directly or indirectly through other entities, a majority of the total number of votes in the bodies of the other entity or has the power to appoint or dismiss a majority of the members of the management or supervisory bodies.

The Act lists three main cases in which significant shareholding is acquired or achieved, namely:
1. obtaining a significant shareholding in an entity covered by protection by acquisition shares or stocks or rights attached to shares or stocks, or taking up shares or stocks,
2. reaching or exceeding the thresholds of 20% and 40% of the total number of votes respectively in the body constituting the protected entity, a share in the entity’s profits of the protected person or a shareholding in a partnership which is a protected entity in relation to the value of all contributions made to that company by acquiring shares or stocks or rights attached to shares or stocks, or taking up shares or stocks, or
3. acquisition or lease of an enterprise from a protected entity, or its organized part.

The acquisition of dominance is achieved through:
1) acquisition of shares or rights attached to shares or rights from shares or rights or taking up shares or stocks, or
2) conclusion of an agreement providing for the management of that entity or the transfer of profit by that entity.

Definition of foreign investor

According to the Regulation, a foreign investor is the following:
(1) a natural person who does not have Polish nationality;
(2) a legal person who has not or has not had, for at least two years from the day preceding the notification of the transaction, a registered office in the member state of the EEA or the OECD who intends to make a transaction that falls within the scope of the regulation.

Deadline for notification of the relevant screening body

Where an entity intends to acquire or achieve a substantial shareholding or dominance, and in the case of indirect acquisition, the notification shall be made before the conclusion of any agreement giving rise to an obligation to acquire or achieve a substantial shareholding or dominance, or before any other legal act or acts leading to the same (intended) effect. In case of follow-up acquisition, the notification needs to be filed within 7 days of the date of acquisition of substantial shareholding or dominance or, if it is not possible to determine the exact moment, within 30 days. During the whole process legal representation by a Polish attorney at law is mandatory.
Foreign Direct Investment in Poland

Screening procedure

The procedure is split into two phases:

1) The first phase called preliminary verifying procedure is intended to distinguish between simple cases that do not require further examination and more complex ones. This phase is to last up to 30 days. It is expected that most of the cases will be completed in this phase. In such cases, the President of the Office of Competition and Consumer Protection will issue a notice of non-opposition. The Office shall strive to conclude cases that do not raise doubts as soon as possible.

2) Only a small number of specific cases will be referred to the appropriate control procedure (phase two), i.e. those that may pose a major threat to public order, public security or public health. According to the Office's guidelines, this shall refer to situations where, for example, there is a risk that an undertaking of substantial value for public interest might be forced to move abroad, close down its plant, siphon technologies or that this entity's business operations might be compromised otherwise. This phase of the procedure is to last a maximum of 120 days.

Within 30 working days of the initiation of the proceeding, the President of the Office of Competition and Consumer Protection (UOKiK) shall issue:

1. a decision refusing to initiate control proceedings and not objecting to acquiring or achieving significant participation or dominance, or
2. the decision to initiate an inspection procedure.

Control proceedings conducted by UOKiK shall end with the issuance of a decision authorizing or opposing the acquisition or achievement of a significant shareholding or acquisition of dominance over the protected entity, including in the case of indirect or subsequent acquisition.

Screening decision

Within 30 working days of the initiation of the proceeding, the President of the Office of Competition and Consumer Protection (UOKiK) shall issue:

Are fines or other penalties prescribed due to failure to notify the FDI?

Achieving or acquiring a significant shareholding or dominance in a protected undertaking without filing a notification or despite the President of UOKiK's objection will be null and void by law. This will also be subject to a fine of up to PLN 50 million and to imprisonment from 6 months to 5 years. Sanctions may also be ordered in combination.

Foreign Direct Investment in Slovenia

Deadline for notification of the relevant screening body

The FDI must be notified to the Slovene Ministry of the Economic Development and Technology, who shall then review the respective investment. The Ministry must be notified within 15 days of:
- concluding a merger agreement or since the publication of the takeover bid;
- the establishment of a company; or
- concluding a contract by which a foreign investor or its subsidiaries in Slovenia acquire the right to dispose of land and real estate essential to critical infrastructure or are located in the vicinity of such infrastructure.

Screening procedure

The Slovene Ministry of the Economic Development and Technology shall review the respective investment. The decision on the review is limited to whether the FDI poses a threat to security or public order of the Republic of Slovenia, especially in cases where it affects (“risk factors”):
- critical infrastructure, physical or virtual, including infrastructure in the fields of energy, transport, water, health, communications, media, data processing or data storage, the aerospace sector, and defense, electoral or financial infrastructure and sensitive facilities, as well as land and real estate, which are essential for the use of such infrastructure or land and real estate located in the vicinity of such infrastructure;
- critical technologies and dual-use items as defined in point 1 of Article 2 of Council Regulation (EC) No. 428/2009, including artificial intelligence, robotics, semiconductors, cyber security, aerospace and defense technology, energy storage technology, quantum and nuclear technology, nanotechnology and biotechnology, and health, medical and pharmaceutical technology;
- the supply of critical resources, including energy or raw materials, food safety, medical and protective equipment;
- access to or control of sensitive information, including personal data;
- freedom and pluralism of the media;
- projects or programs in the interest of the European Union as defined in Annex I to Regulation 2019/452/EU.

In determining whether a FDI may affect security or public order, the Ministry shall take into account in particular:
- whether the foreign investor is directly or indirectly under the control of the government, including state authorities or the armed forces of a third country, including through an ownership structure or significant funding;
- whether the foreign investor has already been involved in activities that affect security or public order in a Member State;
- whether there is a serious risk that the foreign investor is engaged in illegal or criminal activities.

Screening decision

In a review procedure the Ministry will decide whether a FDI is approved, determine the conditions for its implementation, prohibited or cancelled if it poses a threat to security or public order of the Republic of Slovenia. If the Ministry prohibits or cancels the FDI, this decision results in the annulment of the merger agreement or the contract by which the foreign investor acquired the right to dispose of land and real estate, or the decision to register the company in the court register or takeover bid.

Are fines or other penalties prescribed due to failure to notify the FDI?

Yes. The following fines are prescribed:
- up to 500.000 EUR for legal entities;
- up to 150.000 EUR for a sole proprietor and an individual who independently performs an activity;
- up to 10.000 EUR for the responsible person of a legal entity, the responsible person of an entrepreneur or the responsible person of an individual who independently performs an activity;
- up to 5.000 EUR for an individual.

Please comment on any other FDI review aspects you deem relevant in your jurisdiction (e.g. any specifics, exemptions, broader definitions etc.).

Slovene Ministry has the right to review all foreign direct investment in the relevant areas that has been made in the last five years and may cancel such an investment retrospectively. Namely, the cancellation of the investment means the nullity of the contract as well as the nullity of the decision on entry in the register or entry in the land register.
