

Agile Transformation

Becoming more flexible is the key factor of an Agile transformation. But like all other changes, it never works in a way that one solution fits all. With our tailor-made transformation approach, we make sure that transformation fits your needs perfectly!

Step-by-step approach

Big bang transformation is always risky and might not end up successfully. Thanks to our step-by-step approach, we are always making sure that you reach your desired Agile maturity level.

Benefits of becoming Agile

Innovation

The biggest innovations never happen based on doing something you know. You need to experiment to create something new.

Competitive advantage

In order to improve customer experience to satisfy their needs, the ability to promptly react to change is essential. This is a vital component to gain an advantage over your competitors.

Increased customer satisfaction

Imagine how amazing your products or services could be if you built them based on actual customers' preferences. Does it sound like a dream? It doesn't have to.

Higher business value

Delivering the most valuable features within your products, or services leads to increased effectivity & higher profitability.

Risk reduction

We help organizations transform the ways they leverage technology, third-party relationships, and business processes to manage & mitigate operational risks and elevate business performance.

Agile Transformation made easy

Let us guide you through the Agile transformation end-to-end. We will provide you with all people, guidance, workshops & tools to make your transition as smooth as possible.

Transformation areas

During transformation, the focus needs to be balanced between changing the way people in the company work & cooperate (culture & mindset), to foster end-to-end capability of the teams (skills & expertise). Furthermore, by providing technology & methodology enablers (tools & processes), we will ensure that you improve efficiency across the whole organization.

End to end

Thanks to Deloitte's partnership with IXPERTA (Atlassian Platinum Solution partner), you can have almost any customization done within the tools you need. The team of our experts will make sure that your specific requirements and uniqueness of your working environment will be supported by the tailor-made configuration, built-in add-ons for Jira, Jira Align, and much more.
