

Simba

Your trusted ally in the procurement jungle.

Are you struggling to manage the increase in purchasing volumes? Is your procurement process lacking transparency? Are you looking to eliminate some manual processes to increase compliance and speed?

Companies sometimes struggle to maintain control and visibility over their purchases, especially if they are growing businesses that are confronted with an increase in purchasing volume, directly connected with manual and time-consuming ineffective procedures.

Simba, a cloud-based procurement platform, was created for companies facing these challenges above, but do not have the resources, whether it is time, people or funds, to heavily invest in an exorbitant procurement solution.

What exactly does Simba help you with?

Request

- Choose from a wide-ranging catalogue of preferred suppliers.
- Guide users through industry best practice and company policies to increase compliance.
- Reduce and control company business spend.

Order

- Shorten requisition-to-order cycles thanks to higher catalogue use.
- Improve communication with suppliers by setting up shared policies.
- Create customized approval flows to increase compliance with company policies.

Invoice

- Eliminate errors in incoming invoices by setting up invoicing rules.
- Ensure that all POs match the negotiated prices.
- Transparency on invoice and payment status for suppliers.

Simba combines the benefits of SAP Ariba with software-as-a-service (SaaS) delivery, allowing for quick and flexible deployment without the need for substantial upfront investments. With the Deloitte Simba platform, you can streamline your procurement process and gain control over your purchases without the unnecessary costs associated with traditional systems, because Simba unites customers to groups, which helps them to significantly save on standard licenses costs.
