

Protect your staff in real time and master your relaunch with the digital platform RestartNow!

Typical challenges

- Incurring huge daily losses following business closures and production stoppage
- Working to adapt workflows and production processes to new hygiene standards
- Complying with regulations regarding the monitoring of COVID-19 measures
- Providing the real-time overview of healthy and available staff that is essential for resource planning
- Reassuring employees who are scared of contracting COVID-19 at work

Procedures for relaunch

- Updating workflows and production processes in line with new health and safety requirements
- Monitoring staff health on a daily basis without infringing their right to privacy
- Training staff and raising awareness about how each member of staff can do their part
- Relying on transparency and active involvement to ensure staff have confidence in the company's measures

Our RestartNow solution

01. RestartNow is a holistic digital health platform
02. The combination of employee self-monitoring with thermal imaging systems enables companies to estimate the likelihood of COVID-19 infection within the workforce.
03. Keeping the system simple and allowing self-reporting will promote accountability and increase motivation among all staff.
04. RestartNow can be integrated into existing ERP systems, enabling companies to reliably plan production and shift schedules.
05. The comprehensive health reports presented on easy-to-read dashboards provide a transparent overview of a company's status.
06. RestartNow can use company-specific user authentication methods such as Microsoft Active Directory.
