Accession of the Republic of Croatia to the EU – transitional measures

On 1 July 2013 the Republic of Croatia becomes a member of the European Union (EU). To inform customs administrations and economic operators about the consequences of the enlargement of the EU with respect to customs legislation (transitional measures), the Commission has published an information document (added in the 'Related Link' section of this Customs Flash). The document on the accession of the Republic of Croatia amongst other provides information with regard to the basic rules of the accession, specific provisions for customs procedures and the validity of authorisations.
