Macy's Chooses Oracle HCM Cloud to Improve Operational Efficiency

Date	Monday, October 2
Time	2:15 p.m. – 3:00 p.m.
Location	Moscone South – Room 206
Speakers	Shruti Raj , Senior Consultant, Deloitte Consulting LLP Carol Mitchell-Lawrence , Senior Payroll Manager II, Macy's, Inc
Session description	Managing employee bank accounts and handling bank rejections requires significant attention in any mid- to large-size payroll organization. With more than 200,000 employees, Macy's payroll department also deals with a fairly large number of such rejections every week. In this session hear how Oracle's bank reprocessing functionality is helping Macy's reduce this maintenance effort and maximize operational efficiency by enabling the systematic processing of Return files, allowing them to take corrective actions on employee bank data, void rejected payments, and reissue voided payments. This study intends to elaborate on the bank reprocessing features in Oracle HCM cloud, and details the nitty-gritties of the implementation steps and explores a path to optimize the operational benefits.

Multiple Reports, Use Cases on Oracle Financial Services Analytical Applications

Date Monday, October 2

Time 4:30 p.m. – 5:15 p.m.

Location Park Central (Floor 2) – Metropolitan III

Speakers Parth Patwari, Partner, Deloitte Consulting LLP
Ramnik Bajaj, Partner, Deloitte Consulting LLP

Session description Siloed data, organizational inertia, and poor data quality are all significant roadblocks that hinder a bank's compliance with an increasingly dense web of regulatory requirements. In addition to a growing number of reports, regulators seek more detailed information from financial institutions as well as more frequent submissions and faster turnarounds. Using a common data set and platform for multiple functions holds the promise of solving for these issues and creating efficiencies for the Bank. This session highlights real-life experiences, successes, and lessons learned in achieving this vision through Oracle Financial Services Analytical Applications implementations.

Analytics in Healthcare: Deloitte's Triple AIM IQ Finds Value in Volumes of Data

Date Wednesday, October 4

Time 11:00 a.m. – 11:45 a.m.

Location Park Central (Floor 3) – Franciscan II

Speakers Chris DeBeer, Principal, Deloitte Consulting LLP
William Bercik, Oracle

Session description Healthcare organizations have myriad disparate systems. Data volumes have grown exponentially in recent years, but the availability and access to that data has dropped. Consolidation within the industry only exacerbates the problem. Regulatory compliance requirements such as MACRA contribute to make this a “perfect storm” for analytics in healthcare. Improvement of the healthcare system requires simultaneous pursuit of three aims: improved experience of care, improved population health, and reduced per capita costs. In this session join Deloitte and Oracle to review a jointly developed solution that accelerates achievement of these goals, increasing the transparency and access to insights in a highly scalable, easily configured platform.
