

InSightIQ

Combine curated consumer data to generate business insights

Overview

InSightIQ combines consumer data and analytics with deep industry and domain expertise to curate powerful, relevant insights.

It actively monitors and aggregates real-time consumer, macro, marketplace, competitive, and economic data to predict how and when brands can win in the marketplace—the outside-in perspective that turns insight to a competitive edge.

Features

Behavior insights from 5G and mobile device data

Track basket composition to learn the choices consumers make, plus when and how their behavior shifts

Use mobile device and clickstream data to see where people are—and are not—visiting

Use credit/debit card transaction data to predict transactions and spending

Weekly consumer sentiment pulses to interpret behaviors with context

InSightIQ helps interpret changing consumer preferences and expectations

Understand consumer demographics, identify growth opportunities and buying patterns

Analyze channel activity, strategize to retain valuable customers and attract new ones

Prepare for future disruption, analyze emerging trends and the competitive landscape

Industries

Consumer

Functions

Customer

Processes

Marketing

Business performance

Innovations leveraged

Market intelligence

5G

Social media

For more information or to discuss a specific challenge your organization is facing, contact SAP@deloitte.com