Recent Changes in Immigration – Presidential Regulation No. 21 of 2016 concerning Visa-Free Visit

Overview

Effective 10 March 2016, based on Presidential Regulation No. 21 of 2016, the Indonesian Government has exempted nationals from 169 countries from the obligation to obtain a visa to visit Indonesia. This regulation replaces Presidential Regulation No. 69 of 2015 (effective 10 June 2015) and its amendment Presidential Regulation No. 104 of 2015 (September 2015), which granted visa exemption to nationals from 45 countries and 90 countries, respectively. The expansion of the visa exemption facility is expected to increase the number of tourists visiting Indonesia and also provide, in general, benefits for economic development.

Changes

This new regulation adopts the principle of reciprocity and the principle of benefit. Exception is only applied for journalistic activity. Further guidance, relating to the purpose or activities for visiting Indonesia for which the visa exemption can be granted, immigration checkpoints, and the procedure for entering and exiting Indonesian territory, is yet to be stipulated in a Ministerial Regulation. While awaiting the issuance of the Ministerial Regulation, the Directorate General of Immigration has issued a circular letter addressed to the Heads of Regional Offices of the Ministry of Law and Human Rights throughout Indonesia to provide guidance to all immigration officials/officers concerning the purpose of arrival for the recipients of the visa exemption, which include:

- Tourism;
- Family;
- Social;
- Art and Culture;
- Government duties;
- Giving lectures or taking part in seminars;
- Taking part in international exhibitions;
- Attending a meeting held with a head office or representative in Indonesia; and
- In transit to another country.

Below are further details on Presidential Regulation No. 21 of 2016:

Deloitte's View

The expansion of the countries eligible for Visa-Free Visit will have positive impact on international relationships and also on Indonesia's economy. Tourism has been an important component of the Indonesian economy and also a significant source of its foreign exchange revenue. The government has been actively promoting tourism to Indonesia. This regulation is expected to help boost the number of visitors to Indonesia and contribute to economic development in Indonesia.
