

Ruairí Ó hAilín is a Senior Software Technologist with Enterprise Ireland since 2006. He is part of a team responsible for Technical Assessment of R&D and other projects, reporting to the EI and IDA investment committees on eligibility and technical merit.

He has previously managed a wide range of software design projects with multi-nationals around the world while working with S3Group across industries such as telecoms, consumer electronics and medical systems.

Cuirfidh sé fáilte roimh cheisteanna as Gaeilge :-)