

Business Information Services

Businesses considering mergers, acquisitions, strategic relationships, investments or practically any big decision need accurate information about entities and their executives and the potential risks they face in entering into a new business relationship or new environment. Our Comprehensive reports are tailored to meet specific requests and requirements, while maintaining a high degree of confidentiality and discretion:

Deloitte's Business Information Products

Why Deloitte's Business Information Products?

- Access to information sources and experts in a range of sectors and disciplines of the local and global firm
- Information gathering and extraction methodology based on 8200 unit's methods
- Actively cross-referencing a diverse portfolio of online and manual data points in order to discreetly develop information that has not been readily available to our clients

To learn more about how our Business Information professionals can help your business succeed, please contact: Aurelie Amidan, Head of Business Information Center, Tel. 972 (0) 3 6086177, Mail: aamidan@deloitte.co.il

