OVERVIEW

Initiating or expanding business in the U.S. market is a highly attractive prospect for many Israeli companies, particularly those in the technology sector. The vast and diverse U.S. market offers a multitude of growth opportunities, supported by strong incentives and grants. Navigating this complex landscape can be challenging and time-consuming.

Deloitte brings together a joint team of Israeli and American experts.

With our combined expertise, we offer the convenience of a local and experienced team, and the proficiency to unlock the full potential of U.S. incentives.

Some of the most common types of incentives:

- Tax incentives: These include deductions, exemptions, credits, and deferrals that reduce taxes.
- Grants: Direct payments that businesses receive from the government for specific purposes, such as research, innovation, or job creation.
- Loans: Funds businesses borrow from the government or government-backed entities at favorable terms, such as low interest rates, long repayment periods, or flexible eligibility criteria.
- Guarantees: Assurances that the government or government-backed entities will cover part or all of the losses that businesses may incur in case of default, failure, or disaster.

OUR ADDED VALUE:

Deep Knowledge of the Israeli Ecosystem - Israeli professional team with extensive experience and in-depth comprehension of the Israeli marketplace.

Local Team Accessibility - Professional Hebrew speaking team located in Israel, ensuring seamless interaction and availability for local companies.

U.S. Market Expertise - U.S. based experts within the team who fully understand the ever-evolving American market dynamics.

The Best of Both Worlds - A combined team of Israeli and American experts delivers optimal success, convenience and flexible experience.
