

Overview

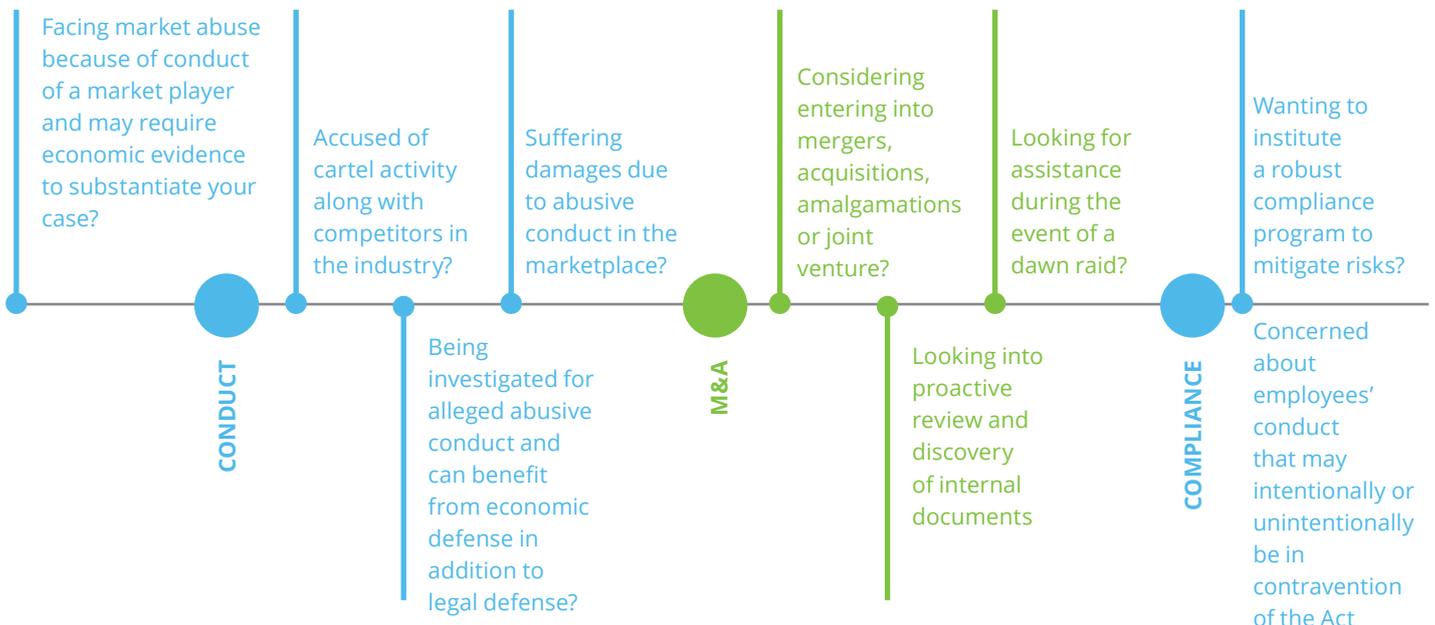

The consistent changes in the economic and regulatory landscape, aggressive enforcement strategies, and unforeseen penalties and judgements (passed by antitrust regulators worldwide) imply the growing need for businesses to prepare and be aware of the implications of their market conduct.

Today, various business practices appear to be harmless. However, these practices may not comply with the provisions of the Competition Act, 2002 (the Act). The consequences of non-compliance may entail imposition of hefty penalties, director's disqualification, and/or loss of business opportunities among others by the Competition Commission of India (the CCI).

How can we help ?

Our solutions at a glance

Our antitrust team is a part of the wider forensic and dispute services team within Deloitte. We work closely with lawyers and clients, using our diverse services, to provide a tailor-made solution and address competition-related concerns.

Competition economics

Assist in litigation matters dealing with agreements (horizontal and/or vertical) between parties, unilateral business conduct that may fall foul of the Competition Act, 2002.

Damage computation and expert witness

Assist in damage computation due to competition law infringement(s), and act as an expert witness to testify on a range of business and financial matters.

Combination advisory

Conduct antitrust due diligence on targets to assess non-compliance risks, and also conduct economic analysis for mandatory filing to the CCI in M&A deal situations.

Compliance

Assist in design and execution of a competition compliance programme in addition to monitoring compliance and conducting due diligence on targets.

Investigation and E-discovery

Assist in evidence gathering using Deloitte discovery tools to support data collection, processing, hosting, and review.

Dawn raids

Advise businesses on the protocols to observe during such raids, and conduct mock drills, trainings, etc., to manage and handle dawn raids.
