

GST eLearning Programme Enabling your People

Are you ready for change?

The introduction of GST signifies material change and in order to be ready, organisations will need to adapt and prepare effectively.

The Deloitte GST eLearning programme will help organisations become GST ready by educating a spectrum of stakeholders – internal teams, customers, and vendors through a structured programme on what GST means for them and their role in helping their own organisations to become GST ready.

360 degree GST readiness.
Are you geared?

eLearning is the easy and efficient solution to make sure that everyone in your organisation is trained to handle the change

Helping you prepare for GST

In preparing for GST a raft of new concepts, definitions, requirements and processes will need to be understood and implemented in a very challenging timescale. The implications of GST for every individual will vary according to their function in the organisation.

To assist in helping individuals understand what GST means for them four specific e-learning modules have been developed. These ensure the knowledge is relevant and easily applicable in a day to day context.

eLearning Modules

• Business leader (CXO) – Learn and understand on a broad level how this new indirect tax system will operate and impact our work and business in day to day life. Helps to assess the GST readiness stage

• Procurement – Learn and prepare on relevant areas of the GST regulations and compliances impacting the procure-to-pay process and vendor management requirements

• Sales & Distribution – Train and prepare the Sales teams to understand the impact on the process from order-to-cash and manage customer expectations

• Accounting, Finance, Legal & Tax – Learn and understand the new indirect tax system applicable to daily business transactions and ensure full compliance from recording-to-reporting perspectives
