Deloitte Central Mediterranean
Public Policy Program

Purpose

Deloitte actively participates in policy discussions on some of today's most important socioeconomic and environmental challenges, seeking outcomes that serve the public interest.

Bringing together the policy-oriented efforts in the DCM countries – Italy, Greece and Malta, the DCM Public Policy program facilitates dialogue between Deloitte professionals, policymakers and key influencers to make an impact that matters in our three geographies and beyond.

Activities

The DCM Public Policy program draws upon the skills and knowledge of Deloitte's 345.000+ professionals in 150 countries (11.000+ in Italy, Greece and Malta), developing perspectives, analyses and insights on public interest issues.

The program aims to:

- Serving the public interest through the development of projects and initiatives that contribute to generating a positive social and environmental impact for the communities in which the Deloitte network operates.
- Contributing to the development of public policies, including through the elaboration of research and studies and participation in seminars and workshops in the field.
- Promoting a constant and active dialogue between Deloitte, political-institutional decision-makers and other stakeholders, including for example, business associations, research centers, foundations and associations of the third sector that operate in harmony with the values of the Network.

Policy Topics

The DCM Public Policy program is structured around 6 key policy topics – the BRIDGE approach, impacting socio-economic progress and development in the Central Mediterranean area.

- 🎯 Business accountability
