

Invitation to the Financial Asset Business Seminar (Bilingual Program)

“Future Strategies for Financial Asset Business in Japan”

Structural changes in financial asset ownership due to changing regulations and population decline in Japan

Present by Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu LLC

This seminar covers the overview of forthcoming changes in the financial assets business. In Japan, the expected population decline will dramatically change the structure of financial asset ownership. This will also change the financial asset business, including the asset management sector. The first half of this programme covers changes in population and economy based on academic researches and the impact such changes have on asset ownership.

Financial regulations also have a significant impact on the ownership structure of financial assets. The second half of the programme analyzes the “forming patterns” of regulation in Japan, and a comprehensive analysis of Japanese regulation philosophy. Then, we will make a bold forecast of “the future”.

We believe this seminar will be beneficial in developing current and future projections or business strategies with respect to financial asset business in Japan.

We look forward to welcoming you to this seminar.
