PRIIPs RTS approved

10 April 2017

The European Council officially approved the revised PRIIPs Regulatory technical standards (RTS) on 3 April 2017, along with the European Parliament the following day.

This brings an end to a period of waiting for the industry, which now has certainty on the regulatory framework and can move forward with their implementation projects.

There have been close to one hundred modifications in the new RTS compared to the 31 March 2016 version. All of these can now be evaluated and implemented without any doubt about their status. We will soon be presenting a detailed review of these changes to aid you in your PRIIPs implementation project.

In the meanwhile, please do not hesitate to refer to our previous News Alerts on this topic.
