Transfers of immovable property situated in Malta are chargeable to 12% final tax on the transfer value. In certain cases, the transferor can elect not to be taxed under the 12% tax regime, and be taxed at the applicable rates (up to 35%) on the gain derived on the transfer. One of the circumstances in which such an opt-out could be made is where the property is being transferred within 7 years of acquisition. This 7 year window will now be extended to 12 years with effect from gains chargeable in the year of assessment 2013.

Furthermore, the system by which properties are valued for duty payment purposes will be reformed. Persons buying their residential property through a bank loan will be allowed to use the valuation made by the bank's architect as evidence of the property's market value.

In addition, for properties whose market value exceeds €250,000, the buyer and seller may request the Inland Revenue Department to appoint an architect at the promise of sale stage, to determine the value of the property on which duty will be payable. The valuation will remain valid for six months from the date it is issued.

As from 1 January 2013, the stamp duty payable on the donation and inheritance of property by the parents to their children will be removed. It is unclear from the budget speech which categories of properties will fall within the scope of this exemption.

A reduced rate of stamp duty of €3.50 per €100 or part thereof is currently applied on the first €116,468.67 of the aggregate value of the consideration paid for the acquisition of immovable property for the purpose of establishing sole ordinary residence. The ceiling of €116,468.67 will now be increased to €150,000.

Corporate reorganisations

The tax authorities are now further empowered to grant an exemption from tax for group reorganisations, such as mergers and divisions, if it can be proven that such reorganisations are effected for bone fide commercial reasons and not for tax planning purposes.

- Registration tax on Euro Standard 5 vehicles to be capped at 30%.
- A €500 grant to be given to those who scrap their commercial vehicle and buy a new one of type N1.
- Registration tax on Euro Standard 4 is being increased on average by 10%.
- Registration tax on vehicles of 5 years and older which are imported from outside the EU and having Co2 emissions of 130g/ km is to be reduced to €1,000.
- Capping of licence fees of vehicles considered to have high Co2 emissions.
- Reduction of registration tax of type N1 commercial vehicles by 12.5%.

- Registration tax on motorcycles having an engine capacity of up to 250cc will be removed. For motor vehicles having an engine capacity of over 250cc the registration tax will be reduced by 25%.
- Registration tax on Classic, Vintage or Veteran vehicles which are over 50 years old will be removed. Furthermore, for a vehicle to be considered Classic, the 35 year threshold will be reduced to 30 years and licence fees on these vehicles will be removed and replaced by an administrative fee of €8.
- In order to incentivise the use of autogas powered vehicles a rebate of €200 will be granted to those who convert to this source of power. In addition autogas powered vehicles will enjoy a reduction in licence fees.

Hotels

As from 2013, through an amendment in the Incentive Guidelines, the Malta Enterprise will allow licensed hotels to benefit from an uncapped 15% tax credit calculated by reference to the capital investment made.

Further incentives would be granted to enhance and increase the number of boutique hotels in certain regions, namely Valletta, Mdina and the Three Cities. The proposed incentives include tax deductions on investments related to the purchase and development of such sites and a reduction in MEPA and the Malta Tourism Authority fees.

Energy and the environment

Since 2006, Government has been incentivising the installation of clean energy equipment. As a result, there are now 6,200 families that have installed photovoltaic panels in their homes while another 8,300 families have installed solar water heaters or double glazing apertures.

This year's budget introduces new incentives for the installation of photovoltaic (PV) panels that are not supported through other funding. The incentives take the form of attractive feed-in tariffs as follows:

- Installations of less than 1MW on rooftops: 18c/kWh for 20 years
- Installations of less than 1MW on the ground: 17c/kWh for 20 years
- Installations of more than 1MW on rooftops: 17c/kWh for 20 years
- Installations of more than 1MW on the ground: 16c/kWh for 20 years

Other incentives will be announced next year to encourage the installation of PV panels on rooftops, while a new scheme will allow families that cannot install PV panels in their own residence to invest in a shared-ownership installation and benefit according to the investment they make.

The scheme that provides for a refund of 40% of the cost of solar water heaters (maximum refund of €400) and a refund of 15.25% (maximum refund of €1,000) of the cost of double glazing apertures will be extended.

The 'High Energy User Scheme', which applied to factories that consumed more than 2GwH per year, will now be extended through a scheme specifically aimed at industries and hotels located in Gozo.

Women and employment

Number of weeks 16

2013

Number of weeks 18

With effect from January 2013, parents born between 1 January 1952 and 31 December 1961, who stopped working in order to bring up their children will be granted a credit on their social security contributions equal to one year for every child, or two years for a child with disability. This credit will be granted if the parent(s) stopped work to look after their children and returned to work afterwards.

A further increase of €200 is being granted to those in receipt of a service pension. The annual total exempt amount is now of €1,266.

Persons with disability

Parents or relatives who currently pay for the accommodation of persons with disability in respite centres are to be given a tax deduction against their income not exceeding €2,500.

Previously, the inheritance of a dwelling house by persons registered on the Register of Persons with Disability from their parents / guardians was exempt from stamp duty if the dwelling house was, at the time of the transfer, the ordinary residence of both the deceased and the heir, and provided that the inherited property was retained for at least ten years. The ten year retention period has now been removed.

- Increase in excise duty of 6% on cigarettes and of 8% on tobacco.
- Increase in petrol and diesel by 2c per litre.

The Government is proposing an outlay of €4million to support those involved in voluntary activities.

With effect from 1 January 2013, a stipend is to be granted to those youths aged up to 25 years (or within 3 years of them graduating from tertiary education) who go overseas to work for up to 1 year in a voluntary capacity.

Additionally, the Government is proposing to grant credits on social security contributions to those youths who wish to engage in voluntary activities, either in Malta or abroad. This credit will be given for a maximum of 5 years and on the condition that the person returns to Malta and works for a further minimum period of 5 years.

Voluntary organisations that conform with the Voluntary Organisations Act 2007, are to be exempt from tax.

A scheme is being launched to encourage the restoration of residential buildings in towns and villages. A refund of 25% (maximum refund of €5,000) of costs will be given in respect of the restoration of Scheduled Properties falling under Class 1 or Class 2 or situated in Urban Conservation Areas. The refund rate will increase to 30% if the property is situated in Valletta.

Recognised Non-Governmental Organisations (NGOs) will also be entitled to benefit from a refund of 25% (maximum refund of €2,500) on restoration costs incurred on non-residential properties falling under the above categories.

Finally, companies or individuals that/who buy properties outside Urban Conservation Areas with the aim of restoring and developing them, will be entitled to a reduction in the rate of duty payable on the acquisition of such property from 5% to 2%. In addition they would be entitled to a tax credit amounting to 20% (maximum tax credit of €200,000) of the restoration and development costs incurred.
