Deloitte Academy

Finance for Non-Finance Professionals

7 CPE Hours
HRDF Claimable

Overview

In the fast paced world that we live in today, the need to understand and properly interpret financial information has extended far beyond just financial professionals. There is an apparent need for non-finance professionals to grasp an appropriate level of financial knowledge to be able to make informed decisions.

With that in mind, we have tailor made this course to allow for non-finance professionals to appreciate financial information in a way most easily comprehensible. We have put our collective years of experience serving a diverse range of clients in order to facilitate this course to suit most industries.

If you are a keen individual looking to explore and enhance your skill sets as a professional, this course will work towards providing the participant with a solid foundation to build your financial understanding from accounting concepts to interpretation of the financial statements.
