

Risk Intelligence Challenge 2015

Going beyond risk in business

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

Frequently asked questions

1. Why join RIC 2015?

RIC is a great platform for you to learn, grow and gain new experiences. You will be able to build teamwork and bond with your team members. It is also an opportunity to overcome your fear such as speaking or debating in front of a crowd. You are also expected to think fast and to speak spontaneously as the time given to prepare for the debate is short. Given such circumstances, you will learn to read effectively, analyse and articulate relevant information quickly.

2. Your team does not know much about “Risk”. Would that put your team at a disadvantage?

No. The competition is aimed at raising awareness of how risk is related to all aspects of business and our everyday lives. We are looking out for fresh perspectives from your team on your interpretation of risk, not just the textbook interpretation of risk.

3. What type of challenges would you be facing in this competition?

Your team’s cooperation and collaboration will be put to test. You are given only a certain amount of time to complete each round of the competition, therefore, a cohesive team that see eye to eye, be it in goal setting or mind-set, will have an upper hand against disunited team.

Furthermore, information and reference from the internet is just a click away. Are you able to justify the quality and relevance of your information? Is your resources reliable?

Creativity in your ideas are also encouraged. The RIC challenges you to be creative and think out of the box when applying your ideas in your answers. Innovation is needed to differentiate your business from competitors. Furthermore, understanding your ideas alone is not enough, you will need to convince your investors (which is the judges) on why your idea will work. Hence, your presentation skill as well as public speaking skill will be tested during RIC.
