

DELOITTE TAX CHALLENGE

Team Category - Semi-finals

Video Presentation Challenge

Question

The spillover of US-China trade frictions is said to have negative impact on global economic activity through lower global trade flows as well as increasing cost of living for households and product costs for manufacturers.

However, it has been suggested that there may be a silver lining effect. It is foreseeable that the Malaysia government officials would emphasise on the possible gain from the US–China trade war.

Required

Your team is required to record a video of not more than 10 minutes to the Government on suggestion(s) on how Malaysia could take the advantage of the opportunities arising from escalating trade tensions between the US and China. Your suggestions may include both tax and non-tax measure(s).

Note : Subtitles are not required for the video submission. However, kindly ensure the video audio is loud and clear so that judges are able to hear your justification clearly.
