

Risk Advisory Graduate Job Description

What qualifications will you need?

We recruit graduates with a range of degrees, including:

- Commerce or Business degree with a major in Accounting, Economics, Finance or Statistics
- Engineering or Computer Science degree with a major in any of: Computer Science, Information Systems, Information Technology, E-commerce or Information Security
- Law degree with an interest in financial crime or anti-money laundering compliance and regulation

What characteristics suit this kind of work?

- A sharp and analytical mind with a passion for solving complex issues
- Strong interpersonal skills
- Talent for articulating and sharing your ideas
- Inquisitive nature with a desire to get the complete picture
- A passion for learning about emerging technologies and new methods of commercial practice
- Versatile thinker with the ability to adapt to new sectors and industries
- Attention to detail
- Resilience and ability to help clients in a crisis

What kind of clients will I work with?

- Listed entities, large international companies, small and medium organisations
- Deloitte firms in other countries (Europe, North America and South East Asia predominantly)
- Public sector entities and regulators
- Lawyers
- Māori business
- Main industries include: agricultural, manufacturing, local government financial services, legal, health, education and justice sectors

Did you know?

- Our Risk Advisory team is among the most diverse in terms of background including: ex-police, ex-military, economics majors, engineers, statisticians, accountants and lawyers
- New graduates are often involved in assisting clients with their incident response plans, testing how easily systems can be penetrated and giving advice on risks that entities face with technology and fraud risks
- You will spend the majority of your time working on client sites across a range of different sectors
- You will form a part of multiple skilled project teams working with team members with a range of experience and backgrounds
- In recent years, we have sent people on secondment to Deloitte offices in Germany, Switzerland, the United States, the United Kingdom, Australia & Canada
- You will have the opportunity to pursue a number of different professional qualifications including CA and CISA (Certified Information Systems Auditor), CFE (Certified Fraud Examiner) and Law Profs

What sort of work will you be doing?

- Meeting with clients in various sectors, throughout New Zealand to understand their requirements and help them address burning issues in their business
- Developing plans for new engagements and considering innovative strategies to suit our client's requirements
- Participating in the delivery of information technology audit and / or risk assurance services
- Workshops and brainstorming to identify innovative ways to solve our client's issues
- Assisting clients (often at client site) to identify internal controls and / or risks and provide recommendations or improvements
- Assisting with the investigation of financial crime incidents, including allegations of fraud, bribery, corruption and unethical conduct
- Using industry leading tools to present large datasets in visual dashboards and graphs
- Quantifying loss that has been suffered by clients as a result of an incident or a contractual dispute
- Drafting reports to clients and attending presentations to brief clients on our insights and recommendations

What fields are available to specialise in?

You can potentially specialise in some or all of the following fields.

- Assurance, business process improvement, risk, governance and controls
- Technology risk and advisory
- Forensic accounting and dispute resolution
- Financial crime advisory and fraud investigation
- Data analytics
- Computer forensics
- Cyber security, privacy and resilience
- Health and safety risk consulting

Where can I work?

What impact will you make?

www.deloitte.com/nz/students