

Bundesliga

- Postponed on 13 March 2020.
- Resumed (behind closed doors) on 16 May 2020.
- Completed (behind closed doors) on 27 June 2020.
- Broadcast revenue for 2019/20 season largely recognised in one financial year.
- Minimal broadcast rights rebate in respect of the 2019/20 season as a result of the completed season.

Russian Premier League

- Postponed on 17 March 2020.
- Resumed (with limitation on attendance – 10% of capacity) on 19 June 2020.
- Completed (with limitation on attendance – 10% of capacity) on 22 July 2020.
- Minimal impact on broadcast rights values. Remainder of 2019/20 matches broadcast free-to-air.
- Broadcast revenue for 2019/20 season recognised over two financial years.

La Liga

- Commenced a new domestic broadcast cycle from 2019/20 to 2021/22 worth a reported €1.2 billion per season for La Liga and La Liga 2 (uplift of c.15% compared to the previous cycle) and new international broadcast cycle from 2019/20 to 2023/24 worth a reported €0.9 billion per season (uplift of c.38% compared to the previous cycle).
- Postponed on 12 March 2020.
- Resumed (behind closed doors) on 11 June 2020.
- Completed (behind closed doors) on 19 July 2020.
- Broadcast revenue for 2019/20 season recognised over two financial years.
- Broadcast rights rebate reported to be c.€100m and split between all clubs

Ligue 1

- Postponed on 13 March 2020.
- Cancelled on 28 April 2020.
- Announced on 30 April 2020 that league rankings would be decided on a points per game basis.
- Broadcast revenue for 2019/20 season recognised in one financial year.
- Domestic broadcast rights rebates reported to be c.€73m (Canal Plus) and c.€31.4m (beIN Sports), as well as international broadcast rights rebate reported to be €18.5m (beIN Sports), to be split between all clubs.
- The Ligue de Football Professionnel (LFP) secured government guaranteed loans to make up for the shortfall in distributions to clubs. These loans are to be repaid within five years and repayments are to be offset against future broadcast rights income.

Serie A

- Postponed on 9 March 2020.
- Resumed (behind closed doors) on 20 June 2020.
- Completed (behind closed doors) on 2 August 2020.
- Broadcast revenue for 2019/20 season recognised over two financial years.
- Sky Italia is reported to be withholding payment of c.€130m in respect of domestic broadcast rights after requesting a 15-18% reduction as a result of the delayed season. A court ruling on the dispute with Serie A is expected imminently, whilst the league managed to reach an agreement with DAZN (the league's other domestic broadcaster) in respect of the fulfilment of its obligations.