

The new Customs Code of the European Union - The reality of 2016

Conference

Intercontinental Hotel Bucharest, March 31st, 2016

With 30 days before entry into force, Deloitte Romania, along with experts from the European Commission and the General Customs Directorate, invites you to find out the main provisions of the new Customs Code of the European Union and the norms for its application and analyze with us their impact over your company.

The delegated act and the implementing act of the new Customs Code of the European Union were published on December 29th, 2015. Based on these documents, customs authorities of all Member States, as well as economic operators will have to be prepared to conduct their operations under the new conditions starting May 1st, 2016.

Amongst others, we will address topics like:

- Transitional measures for ongoing operations on May 1st, 2016
- Security tools for customs valuation – binding information and adjustment methods
- Transfer pricing and customs value
- The merger of the inward processing suspension procedure with processing under customs control regime
- Authorized Economic Operator - obligation or necessity
- Customs clearance in Romania of goods located in other Member States
- Information/overview on changes of procedures
- IT transition
- Administrative transition/reassessment of the authorizations until end April 2019
- Mandatory guarantees
- Simplified procedures

Speakers:

Susanne Aigner, Head of A2 Unit: Customs Legislation, European Commission

Claudiu Ardeleanu, General Director, General Customs Directorate in Romania

Octavian Botea, Deputy Director, Customs Procedures, General Customs Directorate in Romania

Fernand Rutten, Partner Customs and Global Trade, Deloitte Belgium

Pieter Wessel, Partner tax services, Deloitte Romania

Mihai Petre, Senior Manager Tax Services, Deloitte Romania

Daniela Neagoe, Senior Consultant Tax Services, Deloitte Romania

The event will provide simultaneous Romanian-English translation.

For more details and registration, please visit this LINK.

Looking forward to seeing you there!

Pieter Wessel
Partner Tax Services
Deloitte Romania