Prospects for establishment of unified administration mechanism for tax, customs and other fiscal payments

At a session of the Collegium of the Russian Customs Service, the establishment of a unified mechanism for administrating tax, customs and other fiscal payments was discussed. The Federal Customs Service and the Federal Tax Service are cooperating in the following areas:

- The activation of interdepartmental information exchange during monitoring activities;

- The main development areas in the establishment of a unified information system for monitoring have been determined; 80 similar business processes in tax and customs administration have been preliminarily identified, described in detail and analysed;
- The establishment of an integrated resource for tax and customs information on participants in international trade with an assessment of their integrity as regards tax and customs risks;
- The integration of tax and customs risk modules into an automated VAT control system to monitor the actual customs value of goods and the payment of taxes and customs fees from the moment of import until the moment of retail;
- The alignment of the “traceability” system for goods within the Eurasian Economic Union (EEU), including the establishment of a system of “documentary traceability” for imported goods on the territory of the EEU; the pilot project for the introduction of this system will begin on 1 February 2018; over the course of 2018, the system should come into full, permanent operation.
