

Heard in the Room about Deloitte Greenhouse

Client feedback

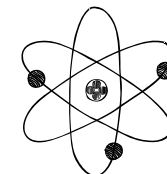

Simple and mind shifting.

It would have taken six to nine months to achieve as much as we did today.

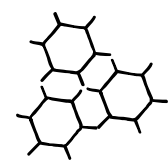

We'd been debating between options for months. It was going back to the problem that finally broke the stalemate.

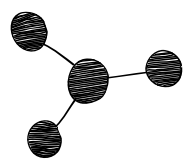

Never before have I been gifted with this much talent and commitment in one place and for one purpose.

Interactive, insightful, and the right balance of theory and activities.

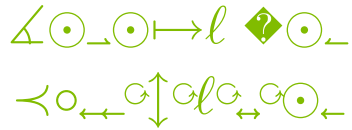

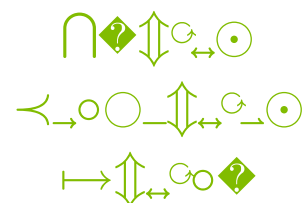

The hands-on approach and peer discussions provided me with a lot of new ideas and food for thought.

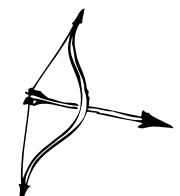

It was like we had a new understanding of the customer after taking the time to truly walk in their shoes

“Albert Einstein said, ‘If I had an hour to solve a problem I'd spend 55 minutes thinking about the problem and 5 minutes thinking about solutions.’ I'm glad we were able to clarify the issue at hand today.”

Greenhouse has helped us achieve consensus on our transformation priorities, providing a structure approach to tease out the critical issues that needed to be addressed.

“Illustrated the Art behind the Science”

