Our Sustainability Services

Businesses are at the critical juncture to rethink decisions and reinvent processes toward a strategy that supports sustainable development. This is a choice that will define the delivery of long-term value and sustainability for both the business and the planet.

Deloitte believes in grounding near-term endeavours within a larger but flexible vision of transformative change to realise a future where sustainability is good business. We term this our Theory of Change. We partner clients on their sustainability journey to rewrite the corporate playbook – from defining purpose and strategy to taking decisive climate actions – and transform commitments into new competitive advantages and create meaningful impact.

Deloitte's sustainability consultants help clients embed sustainability into strategy and operations to achieve greater enterprise value in the new sustainable economy. Our clients become better positioned to embrace change, pre-empt challenges and accelerate solutions to thrive in the long-term. Our four main integrated offerings help clients shape responsible and resilient businesses to operate in an increasingly unpredictable world.

Our Focus Areas

Emissions & Energy Transition

We help businesses steer a course through the intricacies of transitioning toward operating in a low-carbon future economy. We assist clients to lower emissions and decarbonise operations, while supporting and accelerating their business model transformations in parallel to create competitive advantages and succeed in the long term.

Supply Chain Due Diligence & Responsible Sourcing

We help organisations build resilient and sustainable supply chains, to count transparency and accountability as two of the business' trust factors. We assist clients to identify, mitigate, and adapt to a wide range of environmental and social risks in their supply chains to build a resilient and future-proof business.

Risk Governance & Impact Measurement

We help businesses respond confidently to evolving disclosure requirements and stakeholder expectations. We assist our clients to measure progress against strategic targets through KPIs that are aligned with key reporting frameworks as standards for disclosure emerge, evolve and become institutionalised, while keeping internal and external stakeholders informed in a consistent manner.

Public Policy Advisory

We bring clarity to organisations amidst complex policy guidelines to adapt operational processes that meet organisational, market and societal expectations. We assist our clients to address sustainability-related guidelines, regulations, and asks from stakeholders who are driving the marketplace transformation for increased ownership and accountability of actions to combat climate change.
