Singapore and Hong Kong reach in-principle agreement to establish bilateral air travel bubble

Channel NewsAsia | 15 October 2020

Singapore and Hong Kong have reached an in-principle agreement to establish a bilateral air travel bubble, which will exempt travellers from quarantines or stay-home notices. Those travelling under the bubble will have no restrictions on their travel purpose and will not need to have a controlled itinerary.

Travellers will also not be subject to quarantine or stay-home notice requirements. However, travellers will need to test negative on mutually recognised COVID-19 polymerase chain reaction tests. They will also be required to go on flights dedicated for those travelling under the bubble.

The air travel bubble launch date and other implementation details will be announced in due course.
