New revenue recognition standard updates

A roadmap to applying ASC 606
The new revenue recognition standard outlines a single, comprehensive model for accounting for revenue from customer contracts. This new model supersedes most legacy guidance—including industry-specific guidance—and fundamentally changes how entities are required to think about revenue recognition.
