

Hiver is a smartphone app that enables you to make the most of the time you spend networking. It uses advanced geolocation technology together with powerful analytics to identify and automatically remember each interaction you have (which is great if you're prone to forgetting names) so that you can connect with people and follow up effectively..

Hiver was founded by two executive MBA students at London Business School and a PhD researcher at Queen Mary University of London, was a part of Deloitte's Institute for Innovation & Entrepreneurship Incubator in 2015/2016 and a participant in Google's Best of British Campus Exchange programme.

To start Hivering, you'll need to:

Download the App from the Apple App Store or Google Play – don't worry, it is completely free!
