

Women at the Wheel

A network dedicated to supporting and developing women who aspire to become the next generation of automotive industry leaders

This talented community shares industry insight and research to empower individual growth through learning and coaching, guided by the following principles:

 Commitment to promote equality and develop women in the automotive industry

 Partnership and open collaboration as fundamental values

 Belief in full and inclusive participation, regardless of gender

"...some very thought provoking conversation and I shall be spreading the word!"

"You can tell people get a lot out of the events - you've done a great job creating a community."

"...it really does feel like [WatW] has the ability to make a real difference in one of the most highly male dominated industries."
