Family Business Symposium 2019

5 February 2019 | London
Royal Society of Chemistry

Save the date

We're delighted to be holding our third Family Business Symposium – an invitation-only summit which brings together a select group of the most influential business-owning families from across the UK.

The day provides an opportunity to network with other families, exchange ideas and share perspectives on how to deal with the special opportunities and challenges that family businesses face, strictly under Chatham House Rules.

Guest speakers

To give you an idea of the confirmed speakers, the programme includes:

- Geoff Cooper, Chair, Bourne Leisure (The business that owns Haven Holidays, Butlins and Warner Leisure Hotels)
- Sir Lloyd Dorfman, CBE, entrepreneur and philanthropist. Founder of Travelex, patron of the arts and education, Chairman of Prince's Trust International
- Alex Dorrian, CBE, Chair, Marshall of Cambridge
- Sibylle Marchant, Association Familiale Mulliez (The family that owns Decathlon and numerous other retail enterprises)
- Professor Colin Mayer, CBE, Management Studies, Oxford Said Business School
- Andy Rubin, Chair, Pentland Brands
- Jonny Wates, Director, Wates Group
- Kevin Whiteman, Chair, NG Bailey

Peer-to-peer discussion – Wednesday 6 February

Guests of our Symposium are also invited to join a facilitated peer-to-peer discussion at a relaxed collaboration space in Deloitte's London offices the following morning, followed by lunch. You will have the chance to discuss the issues that matter most to you, and receive input and advice from other business families. It will provide a great opportunity to expand on the issues discussed in the Symposium and the other areas influencing your business.
