An ever changing threat

The cyber landscape is always changing. Advancements like robotics, IoT, and artificial intelligence, although positive, can mean greater cyber threats for organisations. Cyber threats can't always be detected by conventional cyber protection methods, and whilst these conventional methods do offer some protection, organisations must proactively develop their cyber capability to stay ahead of the threat landscape.

What risks are you taking?

One of the biggest security risks in the cyber landscape is the potential leak of confidential or sensitive data. An organisation's sensitive data can be lost or compromised in a number of intentional or unintentional ways due to users acting in malicious or innocent manners. The impacts of data breaches can be severe, as you are at risk of both financial and reputational damage.

What can you do to protect your organisation?

Deloitte believe that preparation and continuous monitoring are the best ways to maintain and manage data protection. We know that developing and maintaining an in-house capability (SOC) to undertake this task can be time and resource intensive. That is where Deloitte can help. We leverage our experience working within organisations as well as using leading practices to define a delivery structure which is tailored to your business objectives, working with specialists who understand your business processes as well as DLP tool-sets.

What's different about Deloitte?

Deloitte's Data Loss Prevention service goes beyond a traditional DLP implementation solution by providing specific services to help clients manage the ongoing security of their sensitive data via continuous DLP event analysis, response, and rule management.
