Why Deloitte?

Next Steps

Given the increasing demands placed on the Chief Information Officer, it's little wonder that every transition to CIO comes with its unique challenges, experiences and learnings.

Deloitte's Next Generation CIO Programme is designed to prepare aspiring CIOs for their journey, providing access to insights from top FTSE and Global CXOs and technology leaders on the skills and capabilities required to succeed as a CIO and influential Board member in business – today and in the future.

Stephen Mercer

Head of UK Technology Consulting, Deloitte

Programme Overview

Deloitte's Next Generation CIO Programme is designed to address the real challenges and business issues of today's CIO

At Deloitte, we've seen first-hand how the role of the Chief Information Officer has evolved and the demands on the Technology function multiplied over the past few decades. Heightened levels of scrutiny, increased need for efficient global processes, an insatiable demand for technology-enabled innovation, complex sourcing challenges and a constant request to do more with less. These changes have called for a new breed of CIO – one that does not simply implement technology, but rather transforms the business through technology.

Deloitte's Next Generation CIO Programme is designed to prepare aspiring CIOs for the role's diverse and challenging responsibilities, helping them to become a respected business leader, skilled at delivering real business value.

Over two focussed sessions, our programme provides access to insights from top FTSE CIOs and industry leaders on the skills and capabilities required to succeed as a CIO and influential Board member in business today.

What will participants gain from the Programme?

Network

Access to a network of high performing peers and business leaders across a range of industries.

Practical Skills

Practical skills for new and emerging Technology leaders that can be immediately applied in the workplace.

Insight

Insight into the Technology practices of some of the world's leading organisations.

Interactive Sessions

Interactive sessions to share ideas and solve challenges on key issues affecting your Technology organisation today.

Who is it for?

All our participants are hand-picked by Group CIOs based on their capability and ambition to become a CIO of the future

The Next Generation CIO Programme is designed for high performing individuals who have the potential to step up to the role of Group CIO in the next few years.

Our programme is available to IT professionals across all industries who have been nominated by their Group CIO based on their ability and aspiration to succeed as a future CIO.

The programme is designed for groups approximately 15, with attendance from across a range of industries, in order to maximise the benefit to attendees.

Nomination criteria

- a IT professional with the potential to become a FTSE group CIO within the next 2-3 years (either as a successor to the incumbent or in another FTSE company)
- b Existing CIO with a high level of IT responsibility and stakeholder engagement, within a major division of a FTSE organisation
- c Recently appointed (or acting) group CIO with a FTSE organisation
- d Equivalent IT role within a large scale private company or government body

“The most useful investment of my time in personal development in a long, long time”

Why Deloitte?

Our programme combines Deloitte's expertise and the valuable experiences of our extensive client network with a firm-wide commitment to developing business leaders

Our market reputation Deloitte is one of the strongest performing businesses in the professional services sector. Our Technology practice employs some of the best technologists, project managers and architects in the industry and Deloitte has been named the undisputed global leader in IT Strategy Consulting based on depth and breadth of capabilities*.

Our impressive network of clients and consultants With a network of over 225,000 professionals in independent firms throughout the world, we work with clients in nearly every major industry. We are one of the largest Auditors of the FTSE 250. This means we're never short of experiences and insights to support professional development.

Our investment in future business leaders Deloitte makes a major contribution to preparing future business leaders across business functions. The success of our equivalent Next Generation Programme for CFOs is testament to this contribution, with 74 out of its 273 participants now CFOs of some of the UK's largest companies.

Our respected UK CIO Programme Beyond our NextGen CIO Programme, our wider CIO Programme attracts over 100 senior IT professionals each year to develop their ongoing technology capabilities and connections through networking and learning platforms.
