

RelativityOne Services Powered by Deloitte

Accelerate and enhance the deployment of your company's eDiscovery platform

The best of all worlds

Litigations and investigations can come at businesses from all directions, requiring legal departments to be agile and responsive. Whether it's a once-in-a-decade, black swan event that threatens the future of the company or a series of business-as-usual cases, these matters demand prompt, thorough, and cost-efficient discovery.

Deloitte responds with a flexible suite of options for discovery services, from simple staff augmentation to single major transaction support, to selective outsourcing, to end-to-end discovery program management. As your reliable Relativity Partner, we can help you:

Process and control your own data

Scale capabilities up or down on demand

Address both legal reviews and internal investigations

Enhance capabilities with integrated accelerators and templates

Have on-call support that knows your processes

Align costs predictably with total volume, not transactions

Proactively identify improvement opportunities

With RelativityOne Powered by Deloitte, you can have a secure, powerful, mature, and adaptable eDiscovery solution without multiple vendors or technology-only providers. And, you can control your data while enjoying the support of Deloitte when you need it.

What is the right solution for you?

Ask these questions about your existing capabilities:

[Y/N] Do we have a clear understanding of the nature of the matters we may face in the coming year and their potential downstream impacts on the organization?

[Y/N] Can we look at our portfolio of matters across investigations and litigation?

[Y/N] Is there a clear picture of the scope, deadlines, and locations associated with these matters?

[Y/N] Do we have a career path for internal resources?

[Y/N] Can our current discovery people, processes, and technology stand up to the volume and complexity of these matters?

[Y/N] Do we have a provider who can help us run our discovery as a business process?

If you answer "no" to any of these questions, consider RelativityOne Powered by Deloitte.

Delivery models tailored to your specific environment

Deloitte can help you build greater capacity and resilience into your discovery function with a flexible suite of options for discovery services. From simple staff augmentation or single major transaction support to selective outsourcing or end-to-end discovery program management we can help your organization become more agile and responsive.

Deloitte's suite of discovery services

Event response—a matter-specific approach typically involving large, complex, multinational regulatory investigations or litigation and priced on a pre-negotiated rate card.

Managed services—a preferred-provider approach designed for companies wanting to outsource selected discovery activities for business-as-usual litigations and investigations involving a volume of data that can drive economies of scale in pricing. Discovery managed services goes further by including document review and portfolio program management, including performance analytics, reporting, and continuous improvement.

Owned & operated self-serve—a self-service approach, powered by Deloitte, that enables you to manage and maintain control of your organization's legal matters, data, and costs—either on premises or through a cloud subscription arrangement—while having access to Deloitte's 24/7/365 discovery help desk as needed. This flexible approach offers the best of both worlds and is often attractive to organizations with in-house technical expertise and legal resource bandwidth.

Hybrid—a highly flexible combination of self-serve and preferred-provider services to fill technology and skill gaps.

Partner of Record—for direct RelativityOne license holders

Even more resources for you

With our RelativityOne solutions, you can have:

Deloitte accelerators—more than 15 Deloitte-developed applications, workspace templates, and a menu of scripts that can be embedded into RelativityOne to give you tailored capabilities.

Program management—activity reporting across your matter portfolio, including review rates, KPIs, data trends, metrics, and analytic report differences to help you drive consistency and value through cost predictability.

Portfolio management—a master repository that encourages reuse of previously collected and processed data and work product for reduced risk, cost savings, and improved efficiency across your portfolio.

A monthly subscription—with our managed services, Self-Serve, and Hybrid approaches, you can have transparent, predictable pricing that scales up or down according to the volume of data stored across all matters rather than traditional “pay-as-you-go” models that accrue costs based on fluctuating factors.

Analytics—a broad suite of leading analytics capabilities designed to increase efficiencies and reduce review time.

Add-on services as needed—highly experienced resources to help you manage projects, drive productions, generate custom reporting, and review data on an ad-hoc, pay-per-use basis.

The Deloitte RelativityOne difference

A secure, modern, scalable, and robust eDiscovery platform to help you address matters ranging from business as usual to bet the company, in a secure cloud environment supported by an experienced provider.

Pricing models designed to address the variable nature of eDiscovery predictably without unnecessary expenses over an extended time period.

A global footprint with local support to help you confidently respond to virtually any size cross-border requirement, including non-US government regulatory agencies and court systems.

Unmatched experience with more than 120 Relativity-certified practitioners, a global strategic alliance, 10-year working Certified Partner relationship, and over 20 years of discovery services to leading companies.
