

Discovery and Data Management Confidence and Clarity from Complexity

Modern complexities from rising data volumes to emerging privacy laws have accelerated demands on corporate legal teams

COMPLEX CHALLENGES FACING CORPORATE LEGAL DEPARTMENTS INCLUDE:

Complex and evolving regulatory environments create new and unplanned data obligations

Unique and unpredictable events that create scaling challenges for corporate legal departments

Increased concerns about poor data controls, security, privacy, and defensibility, with the need to implement governance across the discovery process

The spotlight is on legal departments to do more with less, with a need to scale or align to enterprise Key Performance Indicators (KPIs)

The explosion of technologies increases the pressure to automate, but teams often lack the level of IT support needed

Inundated with large and complex sets of structured and unstructured data, often siloed, poorly understood, and with accessibility issues of general counsel agree that there is an opportunity to modernize how legal services are delivered

91%
