Applicable US GAAP guidance

Under US GAAP, the effects of new legislation are recognized upon enactment. More specifically, the effect of a change in tax laws or rates on a deferred tax liability or asset is recognized as a discrete item in the interim period that includes the enactment date. The tax effects of a change in tax laws or rates on taxes currently payable or refundable for the current year are reflected in the computation of the annual effective tax rate after the effective dates prescribed in the statutes, beginning no earlier than the first interim period that includes the enactment date of the new legislation. However, any effect of tax law or rate changes on taxes payable or refundable for a prior year, such as when the change has retroactive effects, is recognized upon enactment as a discrete item of tax expense or benefit for the current year. While there is no specific guidance as to what constitutes “enactment” under US GAAP, it is commonly accepted that enactment takes place on the date the last step in the legislative process required to promulgate the law is complete (e.g. a law is published in an official gazette, signed by a president, or receives Royal Assent).

Ecuador

Corporate tax rate increased

Date of Enactment: December 29, 2017
Effective Date: January 1, 2018
As from January 1, 2018, the standard corporate tax rate in Ecuador is 25% (increased from 22%), with the 22% continuing to apply to micro and small enterprises and certain exporters (i.e. “habitual exporters,” as defined). An increased rate of 28% applies to companies that are owned by shareholders resident in tax havens or low-tax jurisdictions; the higher rate applies proportionally where the participation level is less than 50% and in full where the participation is 50% or more. The tax rate is reduced to 15% or 18% for inbound tourism companies and companies engaged in the production of goods with a 50%-or-more “national component” that reinvest their profits in Ecuador. In addition, the standard withholding tax rates on interest, royalties and technical service fees increased from 22% to 25%.

Eligibility of partnerships for tax treaty benefits

On February 12, 2018, the SAT issued supplementary guidance on the interpretation of China’s tax treaties, specifically the eligibility of foreign partners in Chinese partnerships and foreign partnerships for treaty benefits:

- China will treat income of a Chinese partnership as flowing through to the foreign partners so the partners (if residents of relevant contracting states) should be entitled to benefits under an applicable treaty provided their share of the income of the partnership is treated as the income of the foreign partners in the relevant contracting state.

- A foreign partnership will be treated as a nonresident enterprise (“non-flow through entity”) for Chinese enterprise income tax purposes, i.e. the guidance confirms the non-pass-through treatment for a foreign partnership. A foreign partnership will be denied treaty benefits if it is not a tax resident of the other contracting state. The partners of the foreign partnership may not claim treaty benefits unless the treaty specifically so provides.

Example disclosures

The following section contains example financial statement disclosures that may be considered relevant, in part or in whole, at the date of publication.

FASB Accounting Standards Codification (ASC or the "Codification") Topic 740, Income Taxes states that deferred tax liabilities and assets should be adjusted for the effect of changes in tax laws or rates in the period that includes the enactment date. Before enactment, financial statement preparers should consider whether potential changes represent an uncertainty that management reasonably expects will have a material effect on the results of operations, liquidity or capital resources. If so, financial statement preparers should consider disclosing information about the scope and nature of any potential material effects of the changes. After enactment, when material, financial statement preparers should consider disclosing in Management’s Discussion & Analysis (MD&A) the anticipated current and future impact on their results of operations, liquidity, and capital resources. In addition, financial statement preparers should consider disclosures in the critical accounting estimates section of MD&A, the footnotes to the financial statements, or both, to the extent that the changes could materially impact existing assumptions used in making estimates of tax-related balances.

Certain legislation that has been discussed in other sections of this document may lead to an adjustment to the deferred tax balances and current taxes payable recorded on an entity’s books and, if material, may need to be disclosed in the company’s financial statements. In addition, proposals to change tax laws, rules, regulations, and interpretations could impact an entity’s accounting for income taxes in the future. In preparation for possible impacts of the changes in tax laws, companies should consider including disclosure of the impacts of these proposed changes in their financial statements or in MD&A.

The link below provides sample disclosures with respect to issues including but not limited to the US tax reform, indefinite reinvestment, and intra-entity transfers.

Note 1:

Under the Finance Law for 2017, enacted on December 29, 2017, the corporate tax rate for FY 2017 is 33.33% (plus a surtax of 3.3% when the corporate income tax liability exceeds EUR 763,000), resulting in an ETR of 34.43%). A reduced rate of 28% applies to SMEs (i.e. micro, small and medium-sized entreprises with revenue below EUR 50 million) on the first EUR 75,000 of taxable income; above that threshold, the 33.33% applies.

The amended finance law for 2017 created a “one-time exceptional surtax” for certain entities closing their FY between December 31, 2017 and December 30, 2018. The surtax has the effect of increasing the corporate income tax due for one fiscal year (FY 2017 for companies with a closing date in line with the calendar year) and, for most affected companies, gave rise to a 95% surtax installment due by December 20, 2017 (companies closing their FY as of February 20, 2018 must pay the 95% installment in 2018). The rate of the surtax depends on the company’s turnover:

- Companies with turnover above EUR 1 billion, but below EUR 3 billion: 15% on the amount of the corporate income tax liability; and
- Companies whose turnover equals or exceeds EUR 3 billion: 30% since these companies are subject to an additional surtax equal to 15% of their corporate income tax liability.

The maximum effective tax rate, therefore is 39.4% and 44.4%, respectively.
Note 2:

The Finance law for 2018, enacted on December 29, 2017, provides for a progressive reduction of the corporate tax rate under the following timetable:

- FY opened as of January 1, 2018: The 28% rate applies to the first EUR 500,000 of taxable income for all companies, and 33.3% for income above this threshold (maximum ETR, including the 3.3% surtax: 34.43%)
- FY opened as of January 1, 2019: The standard corporate tax rate is 31% for all companies (the 28% rate will continue to apply to the first EUR 500,000 of taxable income for all companies) (maximum ETR, including the 3.3% surtax: 32%)
- FY opened as of January 1, 2020: The standard corporate tax rate is 28% for all companies (maximum ETR, including the 3.3% surtax: 28.9%)
- FY opened as of January 1, 2021: The standard corporate tax rate is 26.5% for all companies (maximum ETR, including the 3.3% surtax: 27.3%)
- FY opened as of January 1, 2022: The standard corporate tax rate is 25% for all companies (maximum ETR, including the 3.3% surtax: 25.8%)
