

Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act (FATCA) for Financial Services Institutions

Deloitte's Global Information Reporting ("GIR") practice is comprised of professionals with extensive tax technical knowledge and experience with process and technology. Deloitte provides a wide range of compliance and advisory services to US Withholding Agents ("USWAs") and Foreign Financial Institutions (FFIs) required to comply with FATCA legislation. FATCA implementation requires significant changes to documentation, withholding, depositing, and reporting procedures.

Why now?

- The phase-in of FATCA withholding began on July 1, 2014 and non-compliance could result in the application of withholding on certain US source income, extending to certain gross proceeds in 2017.
- March 2015 is the first filing date for FATCA reporting. Organizations need to understand the reporting requirements to confirm they are prepared.
- Failure to institute the required changes on a timely basis may be costly and time consuming.
- The ability to rely on transitional relief requires institutions to show a "good faith" effort.

What is the impact?

- Failure to register with the IRS, as required and/or provide necessary documentation may result in entities suffering a 30% withholding tax on certain payments
- USWAs who fail to impose withholding as required may be responsible for the entire withholding tax liability, in addition to penalties and interest
- Market and reputational risk
- Compliance for FATCA will generally require modifications to existing policies, procedures and systems and remediation of tax documentation
- Readiness, implementation and remediation plans will require input from corporate departments including compliance, operations, tax, and technology.

Who can benefit?

FATCA regulations and Intergovernmental Agreements ("IGAs") impact virtually every organization operating across all industries. Compliance with new US tax withholding and reporting requirements is likely to be aggressively enforced for:

- USWAs
- Banks, credit unions, and insurance organizations
- Broker dealers
- Clearing organizations and custodians
- Trust companies
- Mutual funds, pension funds, exchange traded funds, hedge funds, private equity, and fund of funds
- Other investment corporations, partnerships and trusts, including family investment trusts
- Non-US employee benefit plans

The FATCA withholding tax applies to US source financial type income and the gross proceeds from the sale of any obligation that could give rise to US interest and dividends.
