Operating a finance department at a growth company can be challenging. People may lack bandwidth – they are balancing daily tasks, working across various systems and applications, and supporting multiple departments within the company.

Built on the leading intelligent automation platform from UiPath, our tailored program combines our deep experience with growth companies with demonstrated automation use cases, so you can apply AI and intelligent automation within your finance organization.

Deloitte's Smart Finance intelligent automation program can help organizations:

- Accelerate financial close
- Streamline finance operations
- Improve working capital
- Meet public company requirements
- Elevate employee experience
- Improve auditor interaction

With a modern hybrid finance department, you can have a digital workforce to complete manual and repetitive tasks quickly and consistently each day. This can elevate your people and provide them the bandwidth, and AI assistance, to focus on adding value in review, analysis, and being a partner to the business.
