ConvergeHEALTH™

Shaping the future of health faster

December 2021

What would the future of life sciences and health care look like if we shaped it from scratch?

Patients would be in control.

They would have access to their personal health data and a strong network of digitally connected caregivers. Data would be readily available to power research, clinical trials, and better health outcomes through more coordinated care. A healthy physical and mental well-being would be supported. Prevention would become the norm.

At ConvergeHEALTH™ by Deloitte, we are committed to creating a learning health care system that connects people leveraging new digital platforms to make value-based, personalized life sciences and health care a reality.

We are part of the movement to create a fully integrated and patient-centered digital health care system.

We are delivering the products and services essential to drive a better understanding of what works, how to improve quality, how to control costs, how to better engage patients and, most importantly, how to help people live longer and healthier lives.

What are the benefits of ConvergeHEALTH™?

ConvergeHEALTH is working today to help create the future of health. New models of care. New treatment options for patients. New understanding of health and wellness. All delivered more individually, more efficiently, and more affordably.

In a future that depends on technology, we are the partner to guide you to the future of health: A team who understands you and your organization. A team who has built the platforms, integrations, and talent to get things done. A team who is delivering the future of health, now.

We are part of the movement to create a fully integrated and patient-centered digital health care system. We are delivering the products and services essential to drive a better understanding of what works, how to improve quality, how to control costs, how to better engage patients, and, most importantly, how to enrich lives.

Why ConvergeHEALTH™?

ConvergeHEALTH brings together the full weight of Deloitte's market-leading investments in technology, with a trusted network of ecosystem partners, and our firm's experience and depth in helping clients thrive through disruption.

When it comes time for your business to act, our cloud-based technology solutions and experienced teams can go to work right away—and keep working for you as you shape your future.

We combine a startup mentality—leading-edge technologies, the agility to change course or adapt quickly, and a bias toward fresh thinking—with the significant advantages of an established firm with a rich understanding of audit and regulatory issues. We have built and continue to invest in our carefully curated ecosystem of trusted alliance partners. And we know, most of all, that there's no room for error, especially in an age of changing regulatory expectations and public expectations around purpose and sustainability.

By strategically combining human intelligence and insights and proprietary solutions built with Deloitte IP and ecosystem technologies, Deloitte harnesses the power of integration to deliver multiplied value that may not be achievable by services or technology alone.

As a result, clients can overcome complex technical and operational challenges, reduce risky investments, capitalize on unrealized opportunities, and drive growth and innovation—better, faster, and more efficiently.

How do we know the Converge approach works?

In more than 20 countries over the past eight years, we have been at the leading edge of health care technology. Today, our digital platforms are connecting patients, providers, researchers, regulators, and payors to help them make value-based, personalized health care a reality. Every day, we help our clients choose technology solutions that will work for them—all while keeping our eye on the horizon to stay ahead of whatever comes next.

ConvergeHEALTH case study

One of our clients in the biopharmaceutical space asked us to help them become more data-driven and evidence-based. ConvergeHEALTH deployed our Miner Evidence suite and implemented a new approach to real world evidence that yielded greater visibility into data assets, enhanced and accelerated analyses, and drove greater collaboration throughout the organization. This allowed the client to significantly shorten their development and approval timelines and tailor therapies to deliver a more personalized and effective approach for patients.

Industry accolades

A leading multinational biopharmaceutical company and Deloitte win 2019 Salesforce Partner Innovation Award for creating an innovative patient engagement experience built on ConvergeHEALTH Connect™ patient platform.

Takeda and Deloitte win the 2018 Bio-IT World Best Practices Awards for “Project Platypus” using ConvergeHEALTH Miner Suite.

Celgene wins the 2017 Cloud Pioneer Data Impact Award for use of the ConvergeHEALTH Miner platform to support their big data and real-world evidence initiatives to address issues of data transparency.
