Deloitte + AWS for Analytics and AI/ML

Where innovation meets impact

Deloitte + AWS

More than Cloud Engineering

Deloitte's Cloud Engineering and Strategy & Analytics practices work closely with AWS to offer both breadth and depth of Cloud Modernization services for our clients.

Modernizing to Cloud Data Platforms

Transformation of legacy on-premise analytic assets (data warehouses and data lakes) to cloud native and cloud enabled technologies to improve capability and optimize cost and operational efficiencies (Redshift, Snowflake, Databricks, and Informatica) on AWS.

Enabling New Analytic Capabilities

Driving new analytical insights and services through the power of real-time data insights and capabilities to enable new business models and democratization of access of information across organizations.

Enabling Machine Learning + MLOps

Scaling and accelerating the impact of data science, advanced analytics, and machine learning models with "trusted" and well curated data sets to identify new opportunities and address business challenges.

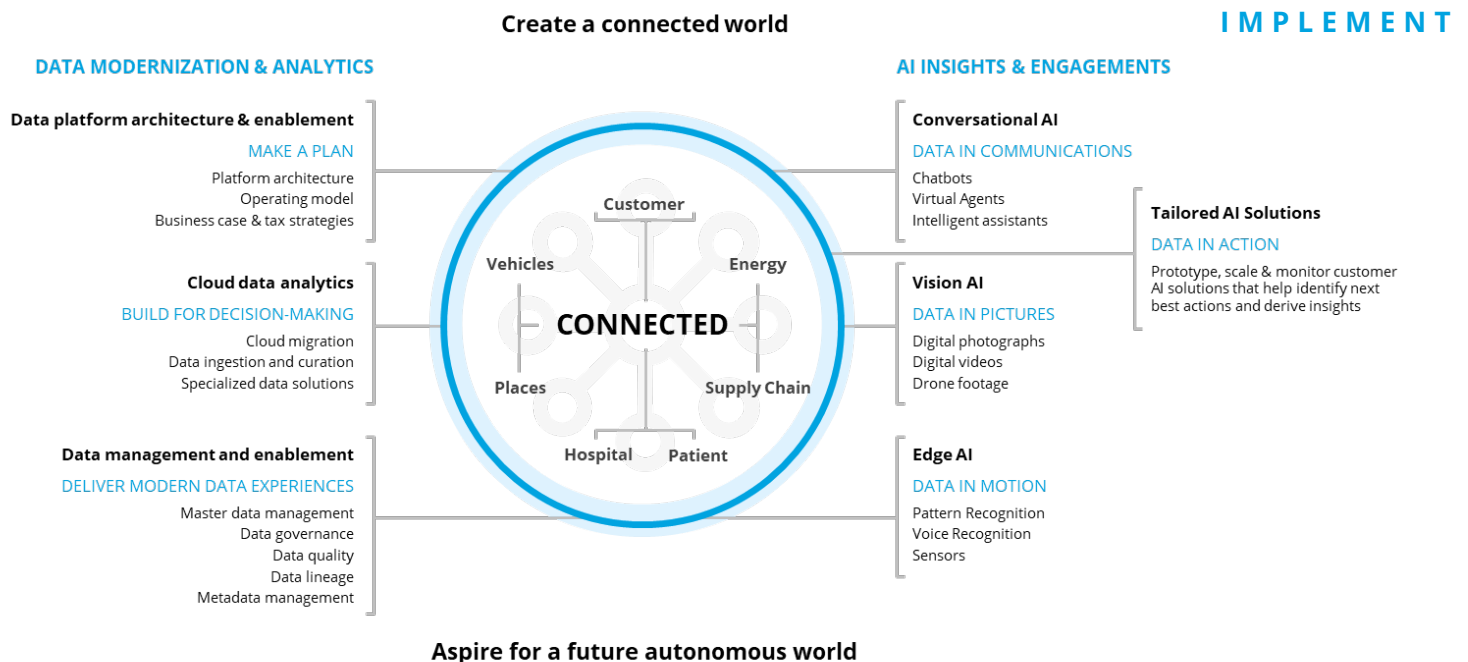

Last Mile Artificial Intelligence

Advances in automation, Machine Learning and natural language processing (NLP) make it possible to design cost-efficient digital experiences, making information purposeful and, customer conversations "natural," resembling and enhancing live people to people interactions.

Deloitte + AWS

Working together to make it happen

Deloitte helps clients achieve competitive advantage through data and analytics powered transformations that promote amplified intelligence, enable our clients to make strategic choices, and transform ahead of disruption.

As the largest cloud hyperscaler, AWS owns approximately 40 percent of the public cloud in use today. 80 percent of enterprises run apps on AWS as their preferred cloud platform. AWS serves that marketplace with the broadest and most mature set of services available today. 95 percent of new features originate from customer input.

Buyers rate Deloitte highly for executing on its growth strategy and for the range of its consulting portfolio and its innovation capability.

IDC recommends considering Deloitte for business-led cloud services implementation backed up by complementary service lines.
