

More screen time for the Technology, Media and Telecommunications Industry

The results of our 2021 Return to Workplaces survey

We surveyed 275 clients to find out how they were approaching their return to the corporate workplace, including timing, health and safety measures, business travel policies, future work models, and more. Of the six industries surveyed, technology, media and telecommunications (11% of total respondents) had the least employees onsite currently of all industries.

ZEROED IN ON REMOTE WORK

++

Currently, TMT has the highest percentage of employees working primarily virtual 78%

And when it comes to returning to the workplace, more than 81% plan to operate in a hybrid model.

++

TESTING 1, 2, 3

66% of TMT employers will strongly encourage their employees to get vaccinated before returning to the workplace.

++

And what's more, they are the most likely industry to require proof of vaccination 22% or COVID-19 testing 19%.

PLANS TO REDUCE FOOTPRINT

And only 13% of them plan to return to the prepandemic levels of in-office work in the future. 50% of TMT employers expect a reduction in office space.

28% noted concerns about maintaining a company culture and 22% have concerns about effective collaboration.

++

As for travel, 72% expect travel expenses to be reduced to at least 75% of prepandemic levels.

++

If you would like to discuss these results further, please reach out to ushumancapitalmarketing@deloitte.com or check out the full survey results here.