

Argument for change

Modernizing legal service delivery

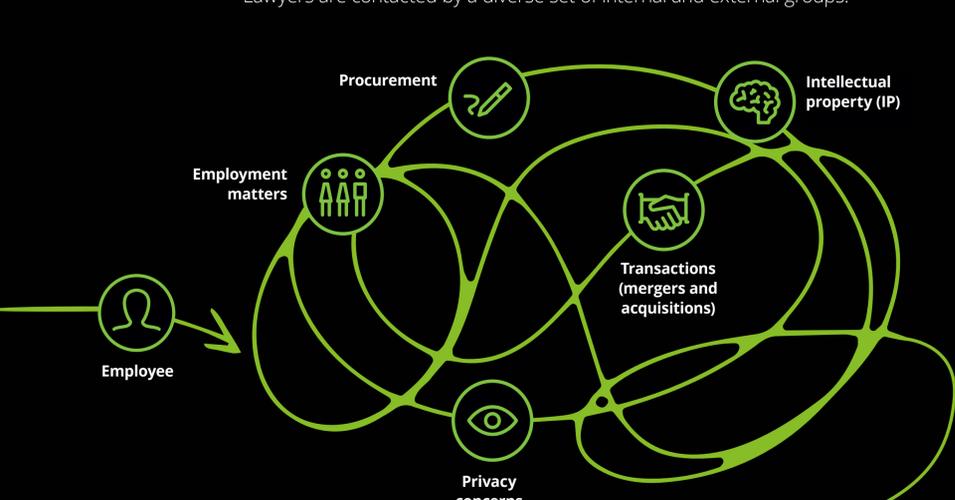

We can help Legal departments make their processes more efficient to drive greater productivity and have a measurable impact on the organization's strategic objectives.

What's driving the need for change?

- High volume of legal requests
- Work from home is the new normal
- 2.7x in 50 years Growth in US regulations since 1970¹
- Pressure to reduce time spent on low-value tasks
- Operational transparency is being mandated by the business
- Do more with less resource constraints impacting legal departments

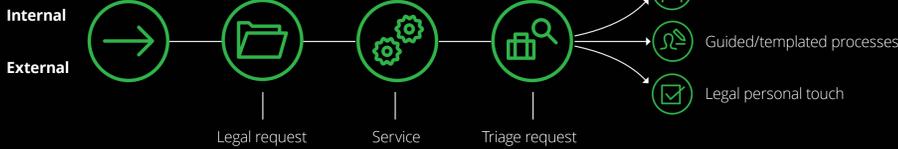

Traditional disorder...

When employees have a legal request or concern, they're often unsure where to start. Lawyers are contacted by a diverse set of internal and external groups.

...needs modern order

How can Legal speed up, simplify, and continue to deliver quality services?

Potential savings
Legal process modernization could help reduce total legal spend for highly standardized work.

By creating velocity and transparency—a workflow engine—legal departments can work more efficiently and create more value for their organization.

Streamlining the legal process
Evolving your scope from reactive to strategic.
