

The Energy Solutions Council

Exchange Ideas. Solve Problems.

Introduction

Navigating today's energy and commodities industries presents many complex risk and compliance hurdles that challenge even the most seasoned executives.

Enter The Energy Solutions Council, an industry forum for leaders in the energy risk and compliance sectors to gather, connect, share thoughts, and develop solutions that help address current industry challenges. The mission of The Energy Solutions Council is simple: It seeks to identify, discuss, and develop leading practices that address key problems facing the energy industry through the exchange of ideas in a roundtable forum.

Participation Details

Participants in The Energy Solutions Council are industry thought leaders who value open discussion, exchanging points of view, and innovation through collaboration. These executives have many years of combined experience addressing risk, regulatory, and compliance issues that confront companies related to the energy industry.

Benefits

Participants in The Energy Solutions Council benefit by:

- Representing the interests of their companies in the development of benchmarks and leading practices in energy compliance and risk related areas.

- Opportunities to drive the generation of thought leadership addressing risk and compliance topics in energy related industries.

The energy and commodities transacting industries pose complex risk, compliance, and regulatory challenges that test the experience of even the most seasoned executives. The Energy Solutions Council provides industry leaders with a venue to share experiences and collaborate on solutions:

- Learning about current issues from knowledgeable participants and guests including regulators, educators, specialists, and vendors.
- Networking with other leaders in the energy industry sector.
- Collaborating via industry-specific working groups on the development of thought leadership.
- Strengthening their voice in the market.

Meetings

The Energy Solutions Council hosts four in-person sessions annually at various locations both in Houston and in Washington, D.C. At least two of these meetings are held in Deloitte's offices, which includes meetings at our Center for Energy Solutions in Houston. Other sessions may be hosted at the offices of our participants.

Given the velocity at which the risk and compliance environments change, The Energy Solutions Council will hold dialogues between sessions to facilitate discussion of pertinent topics and encourage participant engagement.

The agendas for both the in-person and remote sessions are driven largely by participant input as well as current industry topics and challenges.

Thought Leadership

In addition to connecting with others in the industry, participants have the opportunity to participate on various industry-specific working groups that facilitate surveys and collaborate on the development of thought leadership. These documents are hosted on a secure web portal with restricted access.

While not the primary driver of content, Deloitte Advisory's position in the industry and experience publishing highly regarded thought leadership makes it well-suited to support the participants in the development of industry-leading white papers, surveys, and other similar material. During a typical year, The Energy Solutions Council will publish two to three thought leadership pieces.

Next Steps

To maintain the high quality and efficacy of the program, participation in The Energy Solutions Council is offered on an invitation-only basis. Information regarding participant dues and standard contractual terms may be obtained by contacting one of our leaders listed below.
