Performance under pressure

There's never been more pressure on executives and their teams to perform at a higher level in a wider range of areas. In fact, it can be daunting to keep up, given complexity and the rate of change underway today in so many different parts of the business—especially when it comes to accelerating performance in the risk and financial environments. Today's executives need to lead, navigate and disrupt.

That's where the Deloitte Risk and Financial Advisory Executive Programs can make all the difference. The Executive Programs offer a portfolio of role-based experiences, customized, issue-based immersive labs, thought leadership, and other tools designed with one goal in mind: Preparing senior executives to execute through pivotal moments of their career so they are better equipped to manage the complexities of their roles, drive performance, elevate impact and value in their organizations, and navigate and adapt to a constantly shifting environment.

Are the Executive Programs for you?

The Executive Programs' offerings target a range of specific roles and key functions, including:

- Chief Audit Executive
- Controllershship
- Chief Compliance Officer
- Chief Information Security Officer
- Chief Legal Officer

The performance portfolio

Just as there is no single issue or most important area on which executives should focus in order to improve performance, there is no single approach that is appropriate for every leader or leadership team.

Performance labs

Executive Programs' offerings and tools are customized for specific needs and priorities—and address the most pressing issues executives face. Participants have opened the door to performance improvement through:

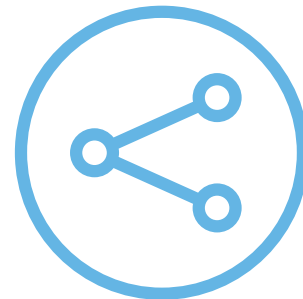

Custom labs

Domain-specific labs

Executive transition labs

Peer-to-peer forums

Research and thoughtware

Immersive lab experiences

Immersive Lab experiences for executive leaders and their teams are conducted at Deloitte's innovative Greenhouses, located in cities around the world. Participants in these experiences benefit from:

- Professional facilitators to help leaders and their organizations navigate tough challenges.
- Proven frameworks and methods drawing on design thinking, behavioral economics, group dynamics, and innovation theory
- Subject matter advisors with direct experience in the specific challenge, industry, or business

Immersive lab experiences

Custom labs

Custom Labs can be custom designed for specific leadership needs, challenges, and opportunities. They can span multiple topics to inform strategic conversations. Some examples include:

- Cyber Risk Study Lab
- Insider Threat Lab
- Risk Integration Lab

Domain-specific labs

Domain-Specific Lab are designed to “go deep” on specific topics that are driving the corporate agenda. They are based on shared experiences of peers in similar or adjacent industries and roles and can be combined with other Labs. Some examples include:

- Strategic Risk Lab
- Internal Audit Relationship Lab
- Regulatory Compliance Risk Management Lab
- SOX Innovation Lab

Executive transition labs

Executive Transition Labs are a research-based framework developed specifically for executives assuming new roles. The design helps to ensure newly-appointed executives hit the ground running, and thrive in new roles and specifically are geared to help executives map the first six months of their journey and accelerate their success. Some examples include

- CCO Transition Lab
- CRO Transition Lab
- Controller Transition Lab
- ...and more for each major leadership role
